Buffalo River Park Mediation Threat Settles Dock Strike

Creation of a vast national park along the Buffalo River is practically assured with passage of the bill in the House yesterday.

Stretching along the scenic river in north Arkansas for 132 miles the park will comprise 95,700 acres. It should prove to be one of Arkansas' greatest assets in attracting tourists.

You recall the history of this river. The U.S. Corps of Engineers proposed to block it with the high-rise Gilbert Dam—but a storm of protest overrode the Engineers, set up the national park project, and so will preserve one of America's most beautiful wild-running rivers.

The town of Marshall was pretty bitter over the failure of the dam and reservoir project, but in the long run Marshall and its neighbor towns may have a better thing in the national park.

America is rapidly turning to camp-outs at vacation time. The older, more formal vacation spots report business has slowed up, and they put the blame on a change in the public's taste—a taste spelled out in terms of trailers and tents while people explore far-away places such as the Buffalo River country.

The longshoremen's strike was settled Tuesday, and while it goes down in the record book as a voluntary settlement an obvious factor bringing matters to a showdown was a bill pending in the Congress for compulsory arbitration.

Anything that ties up our export-import trade smells of a general strike, something no government can tolerate—not even the British when they had a Laborite regime. Not only did the longshoremen tie up ships in U.S. ports but they took steps to block truckers from handling U.S.-bound cargoes from being loaded or unloaded in Canada and Mexico.

The damage to the U.S. economy ran into hundreds of millions of dollars.

It's been a long time since we heard about compulsory arbitration, but it's an ancient weapon used by government whenever a strike paralyzes a vital part of the nation's commerce.

It's seldom applied, but this was an occasion when it would have been justified—and the dock workers settled just before the government moved in.

Texarkana City Manager Quits

Schriever said he was resigning because an impasse had been reached between himself and the city Board of Directors on a policy matter. He would not say what the policy matter involved.

Assembly Passes 38 Bills, Has 60 More

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House Tuesday breezed through 38 of the more than 60 bills indluced in the special session call, but the Senate passed on only two of the measures.

The House met for seven hours and the Senate for four. Both were to reconvene at 1 p.m. today.

Most of the Senate's time was consumed by Dr. Roger Bost, director of the state Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services. He took two hours and 15 minutes to explain Gov. Dale Bumpers' plan to expand state social services at the community level.

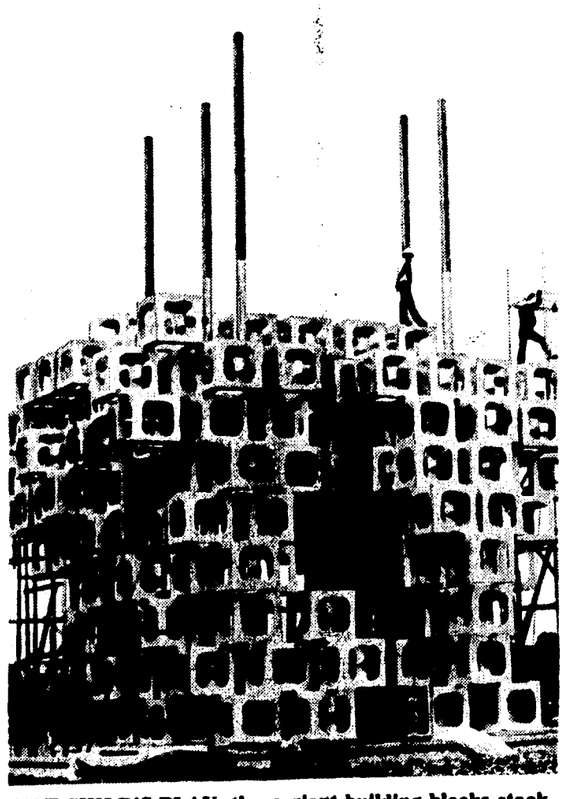

Bost made the same explanation to the House.

Bumpers' election proposal swished through the House on an 81-1 vote and was sent to the Senate. The only "no" vote was cast by Rep. George Davis of Horatio, an announced candidate for Democratic Gubernatorial nomination.

The bill would change the date of the first primary from June 27 to June 13, moving the general primary from July 11 to June 27. It also would start the filing period on March 28, rather than April 4, and would have a deadline of April 18, the same deadline current law provides.

The key change the bill would make in present law, however, would be to permit the political parties to chose their own method—popular election or convention—of choosing state deletages to the national party conventions.

Eixsting law provides that 80 per cent of the delegates to such conventions must be chosen at a popular election, but the election must be held at the time of the primaries. That put Democrats in danger of not having their delegates selected in time for cerification to the national convention. The certification deadline is June 20, but the national party's ruling committee indicated Arkansas would not be held to the June 20 rule because of its election date problem.

NOT CHILD'S PLAY, these giant building blocks stack up as an ultramodern monument newly constructed on the outskirts of Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia.

Don't Abet Enemy, Nixon Asks Foes

Message at Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, is what President Nixon told Congress today in his third annual "State of the World" message.

Accomplishments

Striking progress was made in 1971 toward building "a stable structure of world peace ... a more-balanced alliance with our friends—and a more-creative connection with our adversaries."

Disappointments

Chief among the "several sharp disappointments" of 1971 was the failure to negotiate a Vietnam peace. Others included the inability to prevent the Indian-Pakistani war, lack of sucess in finding a Mideast solution and the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations.

Dangers

Continued Russian buildup of airpower and offensive missiles coupled with questionable diplomatic behavior "raise serious questions concerning Soviet objectives."

Prospects

A first-step agreement in the U.S.-Soviet strategic-arms-limitation talks might be ready for signing by the time he reaches Moscow in May.

Further, while leaving for the time being deep differences, his trip to China later this month will eliminate "a sterile and barren interlude ... between two great peoples."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told his Democratic rivals today that candidates for President should carefully examine any criticism of administration policy in Indochina to make sure their statements do not give "the enemy an incentive for continuing the war."

In a nationally broadcast assessment of his foreign policy, Nixon said he does not question the patriotism or sincerity of those who have criticized his Vietnam course.

But he recalled his own campaign for the White House in 1968, and said candidates should remember that "only the President can negotiate an end to the war."

Nixon said there should be free debate and criticism of U.S. policy. "But a candidate for President has a higher responsibility that the ordinary critic," Nixon said.

He said a candidate should make any criticism "he believes can contribute to an honorable peace."

But he said those candidates should carefully examine what they say to make sure it contains nothing that could give the Communists an incentive to continue fighting.

During his 1968 campaign, Nixon refused to discuss in detail his proposed war policies, saying that if he did so, the Communists might hold out awaiting the elections in hopes of getting a better deal from a new administration.

Nixon said he has been doing everything in his power to hon-

Wants Rich Taxed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of the 112 high-income persons mentioned as escaping 1970 federal income taxes may hear from the tax collector after all, a congressional staff study says.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, read the report into the record of a Rules Committee meeting Tuesday. Members had questioned whether the 1969 tax reform effectively closed tax loopholes.

At Mills' direction, tax specialists checked the returns of the $200,000-a-year individuals in question and found that Internal Revenue Service audits now under way may show that as many as one-third of them owe taxes.

Of the 112, the report said, eight show mistakes or misinterpretations that take them out of the category entirely.

Of the remaining 104, six paid no U.S. taxes because they paid as much or more in foreign taxes, the study said.

Twelve others were free of federal tax because of large deductions for state tax payments; 13 had large charitable deductions, and 55 had large interest deductions, the report continued.

"We suspect that in many of the 55 cases the interest deduction involved represents interest attributable to an investment, in which case it is properly subject to tax," the report said.

Among the remaining 18 returns claiming a variety of deductions, the report continued, two list very large theft losses which will be examined carefully and another reports large gambling winnings, offset by gambling losses.

Emmet Seeks Millage Hike for New School Building

The Emmet School Board in meeting last fall voted to propose a five mill tax increase for the purpose of building a new school building. Dewell Arey of North Little Rock was hired as the architect. Mr. Arey has made preliminary drawings for the new school building. The drawing is available for inspection to anyone and is on the bulletin board in the high school auditorium.

The new school will house the entire school plant except the gym and shop. It will probably be located next to the present high school and parallel to the gym. The new plant will consist of four elementary classrooms, a cafetorium with a seating capacity of approximately 260, library, home economics department, science lab., four high school classrooms, and administrative area.

The patrons of Emmet School District No. 13 will vote on a five mill tax increase and the bond issue on March 14 at the City Hall for the purpose of constructing the new school building.

The five mill increase will raise Emmet's school millage from 43 to 48 mills. The present millage is 30 mills for maintenance and operation and 13 for debt service. The proposed millage is 26 mills for maintenance and operation and 22 for debt service. Most building programs of this size require a millage increase of from 8 to 10 mills but because of a surplus in the school's operating fund we will be able to transfer four mills from operating to debt service and construct the new school building for only five new mills. The school anticipates a surplus of over $20,000 at the end of this school year.

Emmet School received an "A" rating last year which is the top rating that the State Department of Education issues and with a new school building the school will be one of the best in the state.

The new school building, depends on approval of 48 mills by voters of the district.

Some Leary on Services Expansion

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some legislative reservations appeared Tuesday over Gov. Dale Bumpers' plan to expand community-based services for mentally and physically handicapped persons.

Dr. Roger Bost, director of the state Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, went before the House and Senate to explain the plan.

He said that by using about $9 million in state and local funds the state could bring about $26 million in federal

City Annexes Land, Hears Sewage Plan

The Board of Directors, Tuesday night, passed an ordinance approving the annexation of approximately 173 acres of land located on Highway 29, north of Interstate 30. The owners of the land, Thomas Hays and Dean Murphy had previously filed a petition with the county court asking for annexation to the city. The county court approved the petition. The owners are planning some development in this area which needed to be inside the corporate limits for better insurance rates and to obtain other city services.

The Board of Directors authorized the Mayor and City Clerk to execute agreements with the Federal Aviation Administration providing for an exchange of some acreage with Ernest May and his family, and to permit the city to locate industries on the airport property. This action cleared the transfer of approximately 40 acres to the Tex-Ark Division of Tennessee Forging Steel Company and approximately 15 acres to the Permaneer Corporation to make room for planned expansion of the old Plaswood Plant and the addition of a new furniture factory.

The Directors discussed an ordinance controlling wrecked, dismantled, abandoned, and

U.S. Prepares for Retaliation

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command abruptly recalled the aircraft carrier Constellation to the Tonkin Gulf today, raising the strong possibility of intensive retaliatory air strikes on North Vietnam should the Communist command launch an all-out offensive, informants said.

The 76,000-ton carrier cut short a port leave in Hong Kong as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong made about 50 attacks across South Vietnam today and Tuesday, including the heaviest rocket assault on the Da Nang area in 2½ years.

Although many of the attacks were small scale, it was the largest number in more than four months, and it appeared to mark the start of a pre-Tet highpoint of activity.

The U.S. Command said attacks on American forces also intensifed overnight and at least 13 Americans were wounded.

Communiques and incomplete field reports listed at least 37 South Vietnamese killed and 141 wounded. The Saigon command claimed 147 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 22 captured.

Informants said the Constellation would join the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock in the Tonkin Gulf, forming a 225-plane strike force to attack supply depots and other installations in North Vietnam should the Communist command launch the major offensive that U.S. officials have been predicting for this month. The United States has about 125 more fighter-bombers at Da Nang and at bases in Thailand.

The sudden return of the Constellation was also considered a show of strength to back President Nixon's repeated assurances that he will protect the remaining American troops in Vietnam.

Despite the surge in activity, the South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a communique saying allied forces would observe a 24-hour cease-fire beginning at 6 p.m. Saigon time next Monday for the Tet festival of the lunar new year. Sources said, however, that allied troops would remain on heightened alert and South Vietnamese leaves would be limited.

The cease-fire applies only to South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong announced last December they would observe a 96-hour cease-fire for Tet beginning at 1 a.m. Saigon time Monday.

In the past, all such limited cease-fires have been violated.

Most of today's war activity centered in the northern and central coastal regions and the central highlands, where U.S. officials have been predicting a major enemy offensive.

Payboard Makes Some Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board has announced changes in its merit-pay regulations, tightening up some aspects and loosening another.

After days of debate, the board voted 11 to 1 Tuesday night to propose that present merit-pay rules be abandoned and replaced with a new set which would:

—Apply to both union and nonunion merit pay, a wage increase that rewards an employe's performance.

—Exempt merit raises from the board's 5.5-per-cent annual wage guideline if the merit pay is granted according to a formal plan meeting board specifications.

—Prohibit new or renewed merit plans from pushing a company's over-all pay raises above 7 per cent a year.

The public has 10 days to comment on the proposal before it becomes final.

Business member Robert Bassett cast the dissenting vote, after arguing for more flexible rules to take into account the informality of merit-pay practices of small businesses.

Black Group Sought for Murder

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City police have issued a nationwide alarm for nine persons identified as members of the Black Liberation Army.

"Four of these people are named as the murderers of Patrolmen Gregory Foster and Rocco Laurie," Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said Tuesday. "The five others are sought for questioning in the same case.

"This group and a handful of others have been responsible for killings and assaults on policemen, both black and white; holdups and assaults against ordinary citizens and businessmen, both black and white," Murphy said.

Murphy identifed the four wanted for the Jan. 27 murders of the two foot patrolmen as Ronald Anderson, 20, of Queens; Andrew Jackson, 25, of the Bronx; Herman Bell, 24, of San Francisco; and Ronald Carter, 28, of Englishtown, N.J.

Wanted for questioning are Robert Vickers, 22; Twyman Meyers, 21; Samuel Cooper, 20; Paul Stewart, 38; and Jo Ann Chesimard, 24, all of New York City.

Murphy said the suspects committed holdups and other crimes to finance their activities.

Bell is under indictment in the killing of patrolmen Waverly Jones and Joseph Piagentini here last May 21. Jackson has been indicted in the torture murder of Samuel Lee Napier, a West Coast Black Panther leader, last April.

Miss Chesimard, a former Manhattan Community College student, is wanted in connection with a Queens bank robbery, the machinegunning of two other policemen last May and the tossing of a hand grenade that virtually destroyed a patrol car but did not injure policemen inside.

Jackson, Cooper and Anderson broke jail at Decatur, Ga., Dec. 11. Eighteen days later Jackson and Miss Chesimard were said to have escaped from a motel in Odessa, Fla., where another man was killed by FBI agents.

After the slaying of Soter, 22, a black, and his white partner, Laurie, 23, letters signed "Black Liberation Army" and claiming its members did the killings, were received by police.

Pryor Soon to Reveal Plans

Congressman David Pryor refused Tuesday night to reveal his plans before March 1, but declared he is "going to have to make a decision pretty soon."

Pryor was in Hope and was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis Club's annual Ladies' Night Dinner.

Following the dinner meet the Congressman met with a group of Hempstead County Democratic leaders. Details of his address to Kiwanians and their Ladies will be published Thursday.

Red Cross Blood Coverage Plan

The Arkansas Red Cross Blood Program issued a new statement of eligibility on January 1st, 1972. Here is the statement regarding the total coverage plan.

Unter total coverage plan the Red Cross agrees, consistent with donations, to supply total whole blood needs of all hospitals in the county or chapter jurisdiction. Everyone receiving blood in these totally covered hospitals receives Red Cross Blood. This is the coverage now provided in all chapters except Pulaski and Jefferson Counties and those chapters in which there are no hospitals.

It is provided on the basis that the county or chapter will produce a specified number of bloods a year through the Center's Mobile unit operations. Blood needs outside of totally covered counties will be based upon individual or group coverage only as described in the supplementary coverage plan in the paragraphs below.

Haskell Jones Bloodmobile Chairman points out that Hempstead county is covered under this plan to provide blood for the county and your family. Become a donor Monday, Feb. 14th at the 1st Baptist Church of Hope-12 Noon to 6:00 p.m.

Congress Goes Ahead in Spite of Dock Agreement

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving ahead with its own solution for the 124-day West Coast dock strike despite tentative agreement on a new contract by negotiators for longshoremen and shippers.

Concern in Washington that the agreement might not be ratified by the dock workers caused the Senate to push through a strike-ending bill Tuesday and the House to schedule action on one today.

The Senate bill, adopted 79 to 3, provides for an immediate end to the strike and the submission of many unresolved issues to a three-member panel empowered to settle them by binding arbitration within 40 days. There could be no strikes or lockouts for 18 months.

The vote came after the announcement in San Francisco of the tentative bargaining agreement. A union committee is to meet Saturday to set a date for the ratification vote and determine whether the 13,000 men on strike will return to work in the meantime.

The fact that the strike will continue at least until Saturday, and could go on after that if ratification fails, prompted Congress to continue with its own legislative solutions.

Congress is shutting down at the end of business today for a Lincoln's birthday recess and Democratic leaders don't want to risk having the settlement blow up while Congress is vacationing. President Nixon has been prodding Congress to act since Jan. 21 and sent word after the settlement was announced that he still wants the bill passed.

The Senate bill closely follows Nixon's recommended legislation. The House will be given a chance to vote on the Senate bill under terms of a resolution approved Tuesday by the Rules Committee.

The Rules Committee entered the picture after the House Education and Labor Committee rejected the administration bill and approved a milder substitute that would provide for shipments of military goods and agricultural commodities while the strike continued.

Under its special powers, the Rules Committee voted 9 to 6 to take the administration bill away from the Education and Labor Committee and bring it to a House vote.

The Rules Committee also made it possible to substitute the precise language of the Senate bill for any version adopted by the House, which would eliminate the need for a conference between the two bodies. The measure then could go directly to the President for his signature.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., sponsor of the bill rejected by the Rules Committee, urged Nixon to announce that he would not sign any bill for at least 10 days so the union's ratification process could be completed.

orably end the war. "... We have made the most generous peace offer in the history of war," he said.

Nixon's comment about the patriotism and sincerity of his critics came only two days after H. R. Haldeman, one of his top aides, said in a television interview that Democratic critics of administration peace terms were consciously aiding the enemy.

Nixon also said in his radio address, which was pointed to Congress and the people alike, that his foreign policy has brought the world closer to a stable peace because the United States has stopped reacting "on the basis of yesterday's habits" and is dealing with "the opportunities of tomorrow."

Nixon cited his forthcoming journeys to Communist China and the Soviet Union, said U.S. alliances have been reshaped to reflect allied capabilities to assume greater responsibilities, and declared that new world trade arrangements will mean more jobs for Americans.

He said those steps "have brought the world closer to a stable peace.

"They did not happen by accident," the President said. "Three years ago, we stopped reacting on the basis of yesterday's habits and started acting to deal with the realities of today and the opportunities of tomorrow."

The President cited agreements with Russia including development of the ocean floor and the Berlin accord. He called Berlin a spot where trouble could have broken out and said the agreement reduces the possibility of confrontation between the two super powers.

He also pointed out that for the first time a president of the United States was going to visit Moscow. He said he would go, in May, with his eyes open.

Nixon said the accord with Russia was helped by the fact that there was communication between the two nations, but this was not true with China. He said opening of communications with China would be helpful and noted that in two weeks he would start a "journey of peace" to Peking.

Nixon's radio address was a prelude to his formal submission to Congress today of a State of the World report.

Nixon also:

—Said his Peking journey starting next week will not resolve quickly deep U.S.-Chinese differences but will end "a sterile and barren interlude ... between two great peoples" and "will represent a necessary and giant step toward the creation of a stable structure of world peace."

—Reported his greatest disappointment in 1971 was failure to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war. He said an agreement can be reached "whenever Hanoi distinguishes between a settlement and a surrender."

—Defended his policy in the Indian-Pakistani war as not biased against India but reflecting an effort to stop a conflict potentially endangering world peace.

He also held the door open for revival of U.S.-Indian friendship and future American recognition of Bangladesh.

—Portrayed his emergency dollar-and-trade moves of last August as having "put behind us the imminent danger that conflicting economic interests would lead to the unraveling of free-world cohesion.

"It is beyond dispute that we have made signal progress," Nixon said in his 236-page report. "For too long, American policy consisted of reacting to events," he said. "Today the United States is once again acting with assurance and purpose on the world stage....

"We know where we are going. We are moving with history, and moving history ourselves."

And this is in the direction of "a new structure of global relationships in which all nations, friend and adversary, participate and have a stake" and "habits of moderation and compromising can be nurtured," he said. "This is what we mean by a generation of peace."

Says Tax Loopholes Must Be Closed

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House apparently is poised to approve a four-month extension of borrowing authority for President Nixon's administration—coupled with a warning of trouble ahead unless he moves to close tax loopholes.

The debt-ceiling vote was set for today in the House, with the Senate expected to act later this month.

The bill would raise the borrowing limit from $430 billion—a figure expected to be overtaken by the debt within about three weeks—to $450 billion until June 30. The terms were set by a Democratic-dominated House Ways and Means Committee. It turned down Nixon's request for a $50-billion increase, enough to carry the Treasury well past the presidential election season and to February 1973.

Not satisfied with this, a group of Democratic liberals launched a drive to attach to the measure a requirement that Nixon submit a comprehensive tax-reform program to raise revenues without increasing rates on average taxpayers, and so narrow the looming deficits.

The drive ended in compromise Tuesday. The liberals settled for a stiff letter to Nixon from Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., calling for Nixon to submit by March 15 his ideas for "further elimination of preferences and so-called loopholes in the federal income, estate and gift tax system."

Hinting of trouble for the administration, if not now, at least when the next borrowing request comes in June, Mills wrote:

"This matter has become all the more important because of developments in the House in recent days raising the question about support of continued increases in the debt ceiling unless such requests are coupled with tax reform ostensibly that would produce additional revenues."

Food Prices Going Up, Report Says

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government predicted today supermarket food prices will rise "close to 4 per cent this year," a sharp gain from the 1971 boost of 2.4 per cent.

The estimate was included in an Agriculture Department report on the demand and price outlook for farm products.

Prices of all food this year, including meals eaten away from home are expected to average around 4.5 per cent more than in 1971.

A spokesman said rising meat prices are expected to contribute a large share of the 1972 gain. He said a more detailed report on food costs will be issued Thursday.

The report also predicted net incomes of farmers will rise $1.5 billion to $2 billion this year. In 1971 net farm income at $15.7 billion, failed to gain from the previous year.

Mafia Figure Faces Terms

Halfen, 58, of Houston and Collegeport, Tex., received the sentence Tuesday for interstate transportation of forged bank money orders.

U. S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle denied a motion for a new trial.

Halfen was convicted here Jan. 14 after two local businessmen said he gave them money orders totaling $1,321, which were stolen from the Hubb City Bank of Lafayette, La.

According to published reports, Halfen is a friend of reputed New Olreans Mafia figure Carlos Marcello.

Halfen was whisked to an undisclosed location last fall after U. S. Senate crime investigator William Gallinaro was beaten and robbed of valuable papers in his San Antonio hotel room.

Gallinaro had interviewed Halfen, then held in jail here, a few hours before the beating.

Shortly after he was convicted in the money order case, Halfen appeared before a special county grand jury investigating possible organized crime in the San Antonio area.

discarded automobiles. Junk automobiles create a neighborhood nuisance and unsightly conditions and the city has had several complaints about this. The Board asked the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance that would clarify the city's position on removal of junk automobiles that create a neighborhood problem.

John Hawkins and Don Walker, Engineers, were present with a Preliminary Plan for expanding both of the sewer plants for the city. Both of the present plants are overloaded and the city is heading into a lot of trouble with the Pollution Control Commission if sewage treatment facilities are not expanded. The Engineers presented a Preliminary Plan which would provide immediate capacity for a total population of 15,000 people, designed so the facilities could be expanded to twice that amount.

The plans would move the sewer disposal plants quite a bit further away from the city, and would provide the possibility of serving a wide area around the city limits on all sides if the town should grow. The estimated cost of the needed improvements for the two plants was $1,300,000.

Some federal funds are available for assisting cities in developing waste water treatment facilities, but right at this time there is confusion at the federal level on just how much help can be available. The Board of Directors authorized the engineering firm to prepare an application to the federal government for assistance on the sewer projects and be ready to file the application as soon as final action is taken on plans that are now before the National Congress.

Hope Water Approved

Frank Ramsey, Water Superintendent, for the City of Hope has received a letter regarding Hope's water supply for 1971.

G. T. Kellogg, Chief Sanitary Engineer, Bureau of Environmental Engineering, Arkansas State Department of Health, wrote that Hope and Oakhaven water supply met the U.S. Public Health Service Bacteriological quality standards. He states, "your city may well be proud of this achievement".

Each month Mr. Ramsey takes 8 samples in Hope and 4 samples in Oakhaven. These samples are taken at different locations over the system so as to be sure to find trouble if there is any. Not only are the samples taken for the protection of Hope citizens, but because several food processing plants have to certify that the standards are met so that they may ship their products to other states.

These samples have to be very carefully taken using sterile sample bottles and from sterile water taps. Mr. Ramsey uses a propane torch to sterilize the water taps and the bottles are sent to him from Little Rock.

The samples are mailed to Little Rock and have to be checked by them within 30 hours after taken. If they are over 30 hours old, new samples have to be taken.

Mr. Ramsey states that this is over 25 years that he knows of that these standards have been met.

Curriculum Group for Better Schools Meets

Eleven members of the Curriculum Sub-committee of the Citizens Committee For Better Quality Schools in Hope School District 1-A met Monday night in Hope City Hall courtroom.

Four personnel of the Hope School system, representing all levels, Elementary, Junior and Senior High met with the group and reviewed the courses now available to students. The four were Mrs. Muriel Dickinson, Mrs. Muriel McLarty, Dale Franks and Earl Downs.

The number of courses now offered give the students a wide range of choice; however, the greatest problem is the crowded conditions or heavy class loads of 30 to 35 students per teacher.

The Sub-committee plans to make other studies of the curriculum and will meet again Monday, February 14 at 7 p.m. in the City Hall. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Sub-committee members attending were Chairman Herman Wilson, Mrs. Herman Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Bell, Mrs. Jackie Dillard, Mrs. Dorothy Hewitt, Mrs. Suella Tye, Mrs. Judy Graves, Calvin Smith, William Muldrew and Charles Cooper.

Police Station Machine Stolen

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — When the adding machine in the Redding police station broke down last week, it was taken to the local dealer for repair.

The repairman told police the machine had been stolen 2½ years ago from one of his customers, veterinarian William Brink of nearby Whitmore.

Police Chief Robert Whitmer said Tuesday a partial explanation found that the adding machine was part of the loot recovered when a burglary arrest was made 22 months ago. He said the department had been unable to locate the owner.

A sticker on the front identified the dealer who sold the item to Brink.

About 1,600 sea-dwelling Bajau fisherfolk still live on houseboats in the Philippines.

Porks Sign Up Hope's Norton

Also signed by Arkansas were Lynn Norton, 6-3, 225, lineman from Hope; Floyd Nelson, 5-11, 205, back from Little Rock Joe T. Roginson; Kenny Brasher, 6-1, 180, lineman from Dallas Hillcrest; Mike Bogenshutz, 6-3, 220, linebacker from Dallas Jesuit; Andy Walters, 6-3, 190, defensive back from Dallas Jesuit; Ronny Wren, 5-11, 190, linebacker from Euless (Tex.) Trinity; Craig Hayes, 6-0, 195, fullback from Arlington, Tex.; David DeBorde, 5-10, 215, back from Lancaster, Tex.; Larry Brown, 6-1, 180, back from Nacogdoches, Tex.; Danny Crawford, 6-4, 200, lineman from Eudora.

SOME LEARY

money into play on Arkansas' effort to aid the handicapped.

The proposed legislation would authorize the SRS Department to transfer money between the various accounts of the agency as they are needed to match federal money.

Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway asked Bost to tell him later whether the program would be harmed by an amendment Jones drafted for one of the administration's bills.

The proposed amendment would give governing boards of four social service agencies in the SRS Department authority to enter agreements with SRS to obtain federal funds and to work out the fund transfers.

As drafted, the administration's bill would give the boards authority to approve the transfers, but the SRS Department would work out the agreements aimed at obtaining federal funds.

Reps. Charles Honey of Prescott and Kenneth Ray Camp of Brookland said the transfer authority requested in the bill seemed to abdicate legislative control over budgeting.

The measure also asks authorization to hire about 120 persons if they are needed to carry out expanded programs.

The transfer provision also attracted the attention of Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, who asked Bost how the proposed program would be affected without the transfer provision.

"Without that, it would be dead," Bost said.

Fog's Density

The density of a fog depends upon the number of water droplets in a given volume of air; the more droplets, the lower the visibility. Droplets in a fog are so small that it would take seven billion to fill a teaspoon.

Smoking Edict Hits Finances

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When the Lansing State Hospital recently joined a medical campaign against smoking and took out cigarette machines, it also suffered an unexpected blow to the pocketbook.

The hospital had pulled in revenue from over 24,000 packs of cigarettes last year.

Then hospital service league employes decided to try selling apples instead, and the hospital's gift shop is selling 100-120 apples a day.

"The transition from cigarettes to apples wasn't completely smooth," said Marian Renaud, the gift shop manager, "but the career smokers seem to have adjusted."

And the hospital is making half again as much on apples as it ever made on cigarettes.

MRS. HARRY W. WAFER III

The marriage of Miss Sarah Mary Schenck and Harry Wilson Wafer III was solemnized at 8:00 p.m. Friday in the First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Brack R. Schenck and Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Wafer, Jr. The bride's maternal grandparents are Mrs. Jett M. Atkins of Hope, and the late Ted M. King of Hot Springs. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schenck of Pittsboro, Indiana. The groom's maternal grandparents are Mrs. Roy Welch and the late Mr. Welch of Winnsboro, Louisiana, and great-grandparents, Mrs. Enos LaBorde and the late Mr. LaBorde also of Winnsboro. His paternal grandparents are Mrs. Harry W. Wafer, Sr. and the late Mr. Wafer of Gilbert, Louisiana.

Rev. Norris Steele read the vows uniting the couple. Miss Nan Hogan and Miss Tommi Watson lighted the candles. Mrs. Joe Eason was organist. Mr. Schenck gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a street length Empire dress fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. A cluster of lace petals secured her illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of daisies, button mums, and baby's breath.

Miss Betty Ruth Schenck of Fayetteville was her sister's only attendant, and James Roy Wafer served his brother as best man.

After a trip the couple will be at home in Jacksonville, Florida, where the bridegroom is stationed aboard the USS William C. Lawe.

She'll Get Chance to Show It Off

By ANN HENCKEN
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether a woman has a good throat, a great back or a terrific set of ribs, she'll have a chance to show it off this summer.

Since long evening skirts threaten to obscure tanned legs, designers are busy drumming up interest elsewhere.

The halter look continues to blossom in summer fashions. The bare midriff has made a move. And cut-out dresses are on the way.

At the Givenchy Nouvelle Boutique spring-summer collection shown Tuesday, the bare midriff turned up in a simple brown pants outfit. A caftan was slit to the waist. A dress back was chopped in a circle.

Several couture designers have gone to the halter, but rejected the bare middle as too much: James Galanos, Bill Blass and Geoffrey Beene.

Galanos likes halters for day and night. They're crisped up with neat piping.

Blass has gotten barer for summer. He's showing his halters without the matching wraps he used for spring.

"I don't think the bare midriff is right for couture, it may be just a come on, with tongue in cheek," said Geoffrey Beene, who's adopted the halter for his summer line, priced $175 to $400.

Donald Brooks disagrees. He's always like bare middles, "for the couture customer in a smaller size." His halters are draped, Grecian boy style, an outgrowth of the large-ruffled tops he did for spring.

"I have no halters in the summer line. I did that two years ago. They're late," says Rodrigues for Peter Clements, who is making cut-out dresses instead.

When women aren't trailing around in bare-looking evening dresses, they may wear Galanos's covered dresses with pleated skirts or Bill Blass' jersey evening pajamas.

Galanos did not concentrate on pants for day, as he feels women are tired of them. He was more interested in "servicable and chic" day dresses with their own jackets, or shirt dresses.

The Givenchy boutique collection featured pants with pleated, belted tops and neat shirt dresses for day.

Development Grant

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. Civil Service Commission Tuesday announced that a grant of $88,343 to establish an in-service training program, review personnel practices, develop uniform policies and provide technical assistance to local governmental units in the state had been approved.

George V. Young, state personnel director, said the money would be used to establish a training section in the state Personnel Division. During the first year of the grant, which he said probably would be renewed annually, the training section would offer training primarily to management-level state employes.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's early Valentine for this season was a portrait of young love set to contemporary music. The program, "Love, Love, Love," was a "Hall of Fame" special Tuesday night and it tried to be different in a low-key way.

Helen Reddy, Mac Davis and a group called Bread sang softly, sadly and romantically about love. Against this background, the cameras wandered far and wide to focus on six young couples, from puppy-love teens to young marrieds, from San Francisco to Philadelphia. There was lots of clutching and kissing, wandering around hand-in-hand and generally, the program had a pleasant quality of innocence about it.

The free form, however, resulted in an hour that was so soothing that after about 30 minutes, it became soporific.

The producer, Bob Banner, used something of the same technique in his first special starring skater Peggy Fleming. The result was a stunning show because its mood material was background for a central core of the exciting skating of the star.

ABC's "Movie of the Week" was another of those pilots for a future series. The show, "Second Chance," seemed to be a woeful waste of acting talent.

Brian Keith played a successful stockbroker busily building an ulcer to the point he decided to drop out of moneymaking in order to rebuild a Nevada ghost town with people, like himself, who needed a new direction in life.

So far, so good. He populated the place with a former Las Vegas dancer who always wanted to be a teacher; a carpenter and barkeeper who had served prison terms; an aging pro football player who wanted to work around horses. Elizabeth Ashley played Keith's city-centered wife; Juliet Prowse was the teacher and Rosey Grier the village blacksmith.

The idea was sort of engaging, but the story wandered off in all directions and towards the end it was so strangely edited, some essential part of the story seemed to be missing.

Midseason time shifts apparently have helped NBC's "Ironside" more than any other show. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, it follows CBS's "All in the Family" and ABC's "Women in Chains," a made-for-TV movie, at the top.

Among the new shows, neither ABC's "Sixth Sense" nor NBC's "Emergency"—both hour-long dramatic shows—picked up much steam. And ABC's anthology type "Comedy Hour" hasn't caught on at all.

Regional Funds to Be Released

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Funds for the Mid-South Regional Commission, including 31 Arkansas counties, probably will be released by President Nixon within the next two weeks, Sen. John F. "Mutt" Gibson of Dermott said Tuesday.

He said Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., told a group of Southeast Arkansas legislators Sunday that he had assurances from White House representatives that some action "satisfactory" to McClellan would be taken soon on the fund tieup.

The White House has delayed funds for the commission for the last two years.

Tom McRae, Ozarks Regional Commission liaison for Gov. Dale Bumpers, said Nixon could expand the Ozarks commission to include the 31 Arkansas counties, or could fund the Mid-South Commission, or fund and expand the Mid-South Commission so that it included not only the 31 Arkansas counties but the 44 presently under the Ozarks commission.

The Mid-South Commission includes parts of Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

A HIGH SUCCESS

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Ballet, with its 17th annual holiday engagement of "The Nutcracker," played 38 performances, to 101,008 persons and took in $639,410.07.

Both attendance and receipts were higher than last season.

"The Nutcracker" will open the company's month-long engagement at its summer home, the Saratoga, N. Y., Performing Arts Center, on July 5.

Helen Bottel — Helen Help Us!

Do Mediums Have the Message?

Dear Helen:

The interest in parapsychology and the occult is really growing. Mediums are being consulted by women who a few years ago would chuckle at the thought of someone with "supernatural" powers. Group sessions and spiritualistic churches are springing up all over. One woman I know went to London for three months to study so she might become more "aware" and develop her own powers to foresee the future.

Granted, there's something to ESP, but I can't quite accept all this "other side" hoopla. A well-known minister wrote a book about his dead son "coming back." Often these "seers" base their work on the Bible. But I'm skeptical.

A typical incident: my son was in a car which had a blowout. Fortunately, no one was hurt though the car took quite a pounding. When he told me he was going on a trip with some other boys, I had asked him how the tires were. Afterwards, a friend of mine attributed my question to "ESP." I consider it a natural question of a concerned parent.

What do you think about the present popularity of parapsychology?—M.S

Dear M.:

People are always fascinated by the unknown and, presently, the mind is just about the only "uncharted" area for us to explore. While much of parapsychology is guesswork based on coincidences, and part of it is fraud, there is still plenty of evidence that we've only just begun to understand what happens in the brain and why.

I'd guess that scientists (as well as laymen) will turn more and more to studies of the mind during the next decade—and the things they discover may make many of our medical, psychological, even sociological, beliefs obsolete.—H.

Dear Helen:

After reading about the "Confused Grandparents" I thought I'd write about a different kind of grandparents.

My daughter is divorced from her husband, who wanted his freedom from responsibilities, and never stopped blaming her for their have-to marriage. Her ex-in-laws did not want their son to get married and suggested my daughter have an abortion. But NOW, they want the grandson regularly and try to run his life.

They all but ruined their own son, teaching him to lie and cheat. My daughter is heartsick each time our grandson is picked up by them, but she does not complain. She only wishes it weren't so often. Couldn't she make a rule that once a month is enough? Especially since the father has not lived up to his duties?—ALSO CONFUSED GRANDPARENTS

DEAR GRANDPARENTS:

Grandparents have no legal visitation privileges—these belong only to the father.

One weekend per month (or perhaps three weekdays out of the month if your daughter works) seems sufficient. Why doesn't she get tough and say so?—H.

Dear Helen:

How right you: communication is the key to happy marriages!

Our friends thought of us as a happily adjusted couple My mother lived with us and we have no children.

He travelled a lot. He was wonderful to us—on an impersonal level. I never had occasion to doubt him though there was no personal relationship left. Then, after several years of his retirement, filled with hobbies that seemingly kept him happy, I found him in a warm embrace with a widowed friend. His only comment to my shocked offer of divorce was, "Now I'll lose my old friends too."

After several days of self-pity, I decided I had everything to gain and nothing to lose. So I went to HIS bed, taking all the initiative. I poured out my real love for him, buried my inhibitions—and discovered you're never too old! There's a new sparkle in his eyes now, and he comes to ME for talk and love. He claims he thought I didn't want him. How wrong we both were. And now—how right!—SAVED BY A KISS

U.S. Captures First Gold Medal

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — "An Olympic gold medal is a life's ambition come true," beamed Dianne Holum, bringing the United States its first in the 11th Winter Games Wednesday with a speed-skating triumph that crowned a decade of dreaming and dedication.

But another Great American Dream of a gold dissolved as the U.S. hockey team, a brash band of upstarts who had blitzed their way into medal contention, crumbled in a nightmarish 7-2 loss to the Soviet Union.

Miss Holum, a chunky, 20-year-old whiz from Northbrook, Ill., whipped around the 1,500-meter run in the Makomanai Outdoor Rink in an Olympic record-breaking 2 minutes, 20.85 seconds.

Even as she swayed toward the finish line, her arms swinging rhythmically, she wore a smile that showed her sense of victory.

Moments later, seemingly laughing and crying at the same time, she clasped her hands above her woolly blue cap and skated ecstatically into a shouting, cheering throng of American teammates and coaches.

And those teammates, including Anne Henning, have a chance to double the U.S. gold standard of the past two Olympics—one apiece in the 1964 Games at Innsbruck and 1968 at Grenoble. Miss Henning, also from Northbrook, is favored in the 500 and 1,000 meters.

The American hockey team, on the other hand, was anything but favored to win a medal at all, much less repeat its astounding gold medal conquest of 1960 at Squaw Valley.

But after an opening-game loss, the Yanks mangled second-ranked Czechoslovakia 5-1 and visions of an even greater upset were born.

Then the top-rated, defending champion Russians went to work today, shredding any semblance of an American attack and swarming around the U.S. territory almost at will.

The margin of victory by Miss Holum, who broke the previous Olympic mark of 2:22.40, was a mere fifth of a second over Stein Baas-Kaiser, the world record holder from The Netherlands who finished in 2:21.05. The bronze went to Atje Kevlen-Deelstra, also of The Netherlands, with 2:22.05.

As soon as the race ended, Miss Holum was looking ahead. "There are two more races to come and I can't relax," she said."

"I'm an all-around skater. I started out as a sprinter but all these years I have been trying to build up my times over the longer distances. I vowed I would be a champion in the 1,500 and even the 3,000."

With the 1,500 tucked neatly away, Miss Holum goes after not only Saturday's gold in the 3,000 meters, but after the 1,000-meter title a day earlier.

She said she planned her race very carefully and could remember every second of it—not unlike the life she has led to reach this crowning moment.

At three, she was already taking figure skating lessons. But it was seven years later, when her family moved to Northbrook, a Chicago suburb, that her course was set.

She was within reach of a speed skating rink—and put it to good use. By 16 she was a medalist, taking the silver in the 500 meters and the bronze in the 1,000 at Grenoble. But she still wasn't satisfied.

Saving her earnings as a waitress, she went to Holland, lived a spartan life and trained fiercely under Dutch coaches for Sapporo.

"Being a sprinter doesn't get you very far in the Olympics," she said. "I was determined to build myself up for the longer distances." She did—and got far enough to reach the top.

But from the laughing, triumphant moment, she was brought to the verge of tears at a post-race interview.

"What does your gold medal mean to soldiers in Vietnam?" a North Korean reporter asked.

"I don't understand," she replied. "What does that have to do with speed skating?"

"About Mr. Nixon ... " the North Korean continued—then Dianne's father, Edward, stepped forward. "Let's go, Dianne," he said. And as he led his distraught daughter from the room, Japanese press officials escorted the shouting, wildly gesturing North Korean away.

Two other sets of medals were also handed out in Wednesday's competition as Russia's Galina Koulacova became the Games' third multiple-gold winner by taking the women's five-kilometer cross country and Magnar Solberg of Norway repeated his 1968 victory in the grueling individual biathlon.

In the day's other major action, Ondrej Nepela of Czechoslovakia took the lead in men's figure skating with perfect scores in the compulsories and Erik Haaker of Norway was the surprise leader after the first of two runs in the men's giant slalom Alpine skiing.

Miss Koulacova, who picked up her first gold in the 10-kilometer cross country, joined the elite company of Switzerland's Marie-Therese Nadig, who grabbed a pair in the woman's downhill and giant slalom, and Ard Schenk of The Netherlands, a triple winner in speed skating.

She covered the five kilometers in 17:00.50, a slim five seconds ahead of Finland's Marjatta Kajosmaa and nearly seven in front of bronze medalist Helena Sikolova of Czechoslovakia.

Solberg, a 35-year-old policeman, was timed in 1:15.55.50 in the biathlon, a 20-kilometer cross-country race in which each competitor, with a rifle on his back, stops at four points to fire five shots at targets 150 meters away. East Germany's Hansjorg Knauthe was second and Lars-Goran Arwidson of Sweden third.

In the men's compulsories, which count 50 per cent toward the medals to be determined by Friday's free skating, the best the United States could do was the fifth place by Ken Shelley of Downey, Calif., who was just ahead of John Mischa Petkevich, the flashy Harvard premed student from Great Falls, Mont.

Magnolia in Sweep

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Once again having shooting problems and not getting enough points, the Hope Bobcats, B-Bruins, and Kittycats all fell victims to Magnolia teams last night in Jones Field House.

In the last game of the evening, the major contest involving district competition, the Bobcats fell behind at the outset of the game and ended up getting belted by the reigning Class AA State Champions, 70-40.

With the Panthers hitting the first five points, Hope finally put a point on their side on a free shot by Danny Joyce with 5:38 left in the quarter.

Getting two field goals by Joyce, and one jumpshot each by David Briggs and Bill Rowland, the Bobcats headed into the second period, trailing 18-9.

During the next seven minutes, the Bobcats could only hit four points, as they ran into a cold streak, and giving up a 23 point second period total, Hope filed to the dressing room at halftime, trailing Willie Dale and his Panther Company, 41-13.

Hot shooting by Magnolia offset the points scored by Hope and by the time Buddy Ingram sank a two pointer at the buzzer, the game was too far out of reach during the final period, as the reserves moved in.

Joyce led Hope with seven points, Rowland and Jimmy Smith hit six each, and James Bradley, Bud Martin, and Gary Rhodes had five each.

Earlier, the B-Bruins lost a 59-47 decision after trailing most of the way through the game.

Shots by Bud Martin and Mike Harris kept the Bruins close and when Jimmy Smith put a free throw through the hoop the score became knotted at five all with 2:58 left in the first period.

However, the Bruins were outhit the remainder of the quarter and took to the second period trailing, 11-8.

Keeping it fairly close, Hope stayed within the seven point range and after Ricky Brown dumped in two points with 15 seconds left, the Bruins headed for the dressing room, trailing 26-22, at halftime.

As the second half rolled around, Hope just couldn't seem to generate enough offense to take over the lead, and the result of the third period left Hope 12 points behind, 43-31, with one frame left to play.

Harris, Brown, and Gary Rhodes hit the last Bruin points as both squads hit a final quarter total of 16 points each.

Martin hit 12 points, followed by Brown with 11, Harris getting 10, and Rhodes chipping in seven.

During the second game of the night, the Bobkittens gave it all they had after coming from behind to take the lead, but fell short of their goal to fall 44-35, to the Panther Cubs.

Field goals by Johnny Harris and Marshall Scott jumped Hope out of the starting gate, and with points by Mike Hobson and Jim Rhodes, the Kittens took a 13-11 lead.

However, a cold streak in the second quarter left the Kittens trailing 19-15, heading into the second half.

Both teams began to hit the buckets now and with Harris, Rhodes, and Scott hitting shots the Kittens came from behind to knot the score 29-all at the quarters' end.

Using Harris and Hobson, Hope stayed ahead until a cold streak hit and with 2:46 left in the game, the Bobkittens fell behind for the rest of the way.

Harris led the Kitten scoring with 13 points, followed by Scott with 10, Hobson hitting eight, and Rhodes getting four.

Tonight, the Kittycats again travel to Gurdon for their district tournament. They play Lewisville tonight after moving up on the brackets Monday night with a big victory over Stamps.

Chaparrals Beat Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dallas Chaparrals have found that to beat a division-leading team they have to beat it ... and beat it ... and beat it.

The Chaps defeated the Utah Stars 102-99 Tuesday night in an American Basketball Association game. But the Stars, leading the ABA West, didn't die easy.

With Donnie Freeman and Rich Jones leading the way, Dallas took a 31-19 lead after the first quarter. The Stars fought back and led 53-51 at intermission. The Chaps grabbed a 85-76 lead at the end of three periods, then had to fight off a strong Utah surge in the last period.

Willie Wise scored 10 of his 25 points in the fourth quarter to bring Utah within one point with a minute remaining. It was Steve Jones' pair of free throws with two seconds left that finally gave Dallas the game.

Freeman scored 32 points and Rich Jones 18. Zelmo Beaty had 19 for the Stars.

In the other ABA game, Denver defeated Memphis 136-124.

Denver coasted over Memphis as Ralph Simpson scored 35 points and the Rockets raced to a 71-52 first-half margin.

The Pros did manage two late rallies to pull within 12 points early in the fourth quarter, then within eight points a few minutes later, but the Rockets pulled away each time with short surges of their own.

Lloyd King scored 10 points in the fourth period for Memphis and finished with 20.

Game Over at Final Gun

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The game is not over until the final gun, bell or buzzer sounds. How well Jacques Caron knows.

The rookie St. Louis Blues goalie had a 1-0 shutout going into the final five minutes against Toronto in a National Hockey League game Tuesday night. Then the kind of disaster struck that only a rookie goalie can know.

Rick Kehoe, whizzed a shot into the top right corner of the Blues' net at 4:15 of the period, matching Danny O'Shea's score for St. Louis in the second period on a feed from defenseman Jim Dorey.

Caron held off Toronto until just 53 seconds remained wnen Paul Henderson beat him giving the Maple Leafs a 2-1 victory.

The victory was only the Leafs second in the last 12 games and it lifted them into fourth place in the East Division standings.

In the only other NHL game the Philadelphia Flyers defeated the Vancouver Canucks 3-1 as Bobby Clarke scored two goals and assisted on the third.

Think Lakers Can Take the Bucks

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles' Gial Goodrich and Jerry West, the highest scoring pair of guards on one team in a single National Basketball Association season, believe that the high-powered Lakers can short-circuit the Milwaukee Bucks' bid for a second straight league championship.

"I feel this is the best team in the history of the Los Angeles franchise," said Goodrich after firing in 36 points Tuesday night and leading the Lakers to their seventh consecutive victory, a 107-102 triumph over the Knicks.

"This Laker team compliments itself better than any in the past, and I think we can go all the way," commented West following a 33-point, seven assist effort against the Knicks.

The Lakers have been one of the most frustrated teams in NBA history. Since moving to Los Angeles from Minneapolis in 1960, they have won six divisional titles, but not once have they been able to capture the league crown.

However, this season, under new Coach Bill Sharman, the Lakers have been simply devastating, winning 48 of 55 games for a remarkable winning percentage of .873—far ahead of the record pace of .840, set by Philadelphia in the 1966-67 season. In that season, the 76ers finished with a 68-13 mark.

The Lakers' already have shattered the single-season winning streak record, posting 33 straight victories earlier this season before being stopped by the Bucks 120-104 on Jan. 9. But the Lakers have won the other two meetings between the clubs. In fact, there is no club in the league that has beaten the Lakers more than once this season.

Their victory over New York was third in four encounters with the Knicks ... but it wasn't easy. Despite the torrid shooting of their brilliant backcourt combination, the Lakers never could get a lead bigger than nine points.

That came early in the fourth period, when West hit seven points in less than two minutes and Jim McMillian added a free throw, pulling Los Angeles from an 83-82 lead into a 91-82 advantage.

Sharman, a former backcourt star with the great Bob Cousy at Boston, said Goodrich and West "are playing together better than any guards I've ever seen."

Bill Bradley paced the Knicks with 26 points and Jerry Lucas scored. 25.

In other NBA games, Milwaukee defeated Buffalo 126-108, Chicago beat Cleveland 114-90, Seattle downed Houston 127-119, Phoenix thumped Philadelphia 120-108, Golden State edged Baltimore 111-107; and Portland topped Cincinnati 104-100.

Kareem Jabbar poured in 31 points in Milwaukee's victory but the Bucks had to come from behind in the second half to beat Buffalo, which led in the first half by as much as 12 points. Bob Dandridge scored 25 and Lucius Allen 20 for the Bucks. Fred Hilton paced the Braves with 30 while Bob Kauffman had 20. The loss was the 12th straight at home for the Braves.

Bob Love scored 30 points and Chet Walker 26 in Chicago's victory as the Bulls raced to a 64-44 halftime lead over Cleveland, then continued their attack in the second half. Austin Carr led the Cavaliers with 19 points and Rick Roberson had 17.

Dick Snyder hit six straight shots opening the second half. Seattle made a comeback against Houston. He was held scoreless in the first half but finished with 23 points. The Sonics built a 13-point advantage in the final period before a brief Rocket surge. Spencer Haywood and Lenny Wilkens each had 28 points for Seattle while Elvin Hayes scored 31 for Houston.

Phoenix overcame 23 turnovers against Philadelphia and several periods of cold shooting. The 76ers closed within three points at the half but never managed to take the lead as Connie Hawkins sparked a quick Suns' comeback in the final period with 10 points. Neal Walker led all scorers with 23 points for Phoenix while Dick Van Arsdale had 22. Kevin Loughery had 17 points for the 76ers.

Nate Thurmond scored 38 points in leading Golden State over Baltimore. The Warriors trailed most of the game before taking the lead in the last quarter and holding it despite a determined Bullet drive. Archie Clark and Phil Chenier each scored 24 points for Baltimore.

Geoff Petrie hit 30 points and Sidney Wicks 24 for Portland, which suffered cold shooting in the second half. Tom Van Arsdale and Nate Archibald, scored 22 and 25 points, respectively.

Lamar Hunt in Fame Hall

DALLAS (AP) — The Professional Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio was four years from its birth when Lamar Hunt tried to make a go of the American Football League in 1959. He never dreamed he'd reach the pinnacle in both.

Hunt was officially notified Tuesday that he will be inducted into the Hall of Fame this summer.

The founder of the AFL was quick to quip, "If they find out I never lettered in college they may want to take the award back."

"My greatest claim to football fame is that I played at college (Southern Methodist) behind three guys who were all drafted and played regularly in the National Football League as rookies," Hunt said. "Ed Burnet went to the Pittsburgh Steelers, Raymond Berry to the Baltimore Colts and Doyle Nix to the Green Bay Packers."

Hunt will be joined at induction by three former pro standouts, Gino Marchetti, Ollie Matson and Clarence "Ace" Parker.

Marchetti, who was voted to the all-time NFL team, played for the Baltimore Colts in their world championship years of 1958 and 1959. He played pro ball after starring at the University of San Francisco, and was selected for the all-Pro team in all but one year from 1957 to 1964.

Matson, another USF product, played six different positions in his career with four pro teams, Chicago Cards, Los Angeles, Detroit and Philadelphia, but he is best remembered as a running back who still ranks third in NFL rushing with 12,844 combined net yards. Both Matson and Marchetti were Hall choices in their first year of eligibility.

Parker played for the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees in the late 1930s and early 1940s. He was one of the best passers in a period od pro football which saw the evolvement from being ground oriented to pass oriented.

Hope Teams in Arkansas Jr. Olympic Cage Meet

The State A.A.U. Junior Olympic Boys Basketball Championship will be held Saturday, February 12, at the North Little Rock Community Center in North Little Rock.

Representing Hope at the tournament will be Farm Bureau and Tate Motor Co. in the Midget Division and Moore Brothers in the Junior Division. These three teams consist of the outstanding players from each team in the local leagues, thus producing better quality basketball for the strong competition at the state level.

Thirty-six boys and six coaches will leave Hope on Friday in order to be on hand when play begins early Saturday morning. Money is being raised from various sources to finance the overnight trip to North Little Rock.

The Sherwin-Williams Co., First National Bank and several individuals have made donations, and gate receipts from the District Junior Olympic Tournament held in Hope several weeks ago will add to the fund.

A final source of revenue will be three benefit basketball games to be held Thursday evening, February 10, at Jones Field House. Play will begin at 7:00 p.m. when the Midget Division All-Stars, the Farm Bureau team, take on Bodcaw. The second game at 8:00 o'clock will pit the other two all-star teams, Moore Brothers and Tate Motor Co., while at 9:00 p.m. the men's independent team, Perry's Truck Stop, will battle the Hope High School Coaching Staff. Admission is 25c for students and 50c for adults, all proceeds being used to finance the trip to the state tournament.

Iowa Upsets 7th-Ranked Ohio State

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

You gotta have heart to win basketball games, says Providence Coach Dave Gavitt.

A stiff defense won't hurt, either.

"Courage ... and a tough press saw us through," said Gavitt after his 12th-ranked Friars pulled out a 69-64 triumph over Canisius Tuesday night.

The Friars trailed 64-61 before knocking off eight straight points in the last minute.

"You come from behind on defense," said Gavitt, practically hoarse from yelling throughout the nerve-racking game," and tonight ... we had the defense."

Iowa also came from behind to upset seventh-ranked Ohio State 80-67 while No. 19 Minnesota was losing to Indiana 61-42 in crucial Big Ten games. The whippings of the two ranked clubs left them locked in a first place tie in the conference.

Marshall, the country's No. 11 team, defeated Samford 92-69 and 13th-pegged Southwestern Louisiana turned back West Texas State 78-67 in other games.

Ernie DiGregorio, Providence's backcourt ace, played most of the game despite a sprained ankle. He keyed the Friars' last-minute blitzing tactics, helping to force numerous Canisius turnovers.

Don Lewis cut the three-point deficit to one with a field goal from close range and Charlie Crawford put Providence into the lead with two free throws. Then DiGregorio flipped in two more free tosses and Fran Costello added another two points with a layup.

Rick Williams scored 23 points and Gary Lusk added 22 to pace Iowa. Williams' long jumper with 14 minutes left in the second half snapped a 50-50 tie and shot Iowa into the lead for good.

Joby Wright had 23 points for Indiana, but Coach Bobby Knight attributed Indiana's victory to a demon defense.

"This was a nice game to win," said Knight, who refused to shake hands with Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman after the game. "I thought we did a good job defensively. The kids were anxious to play a good game today after beating Michigan State on Saturday. They sure did the job."

Musselman was astounded by Knight's snub.

"He walked off. We didn't talk at all," said Musselman. "I've never refused to shake a coach's hand after my team lost."

Mike D'Antoni hit two field goals in the closing minutes to break open a close game for Marshall and Dwight Lamar delivered 25 points as Southwestern Louisiana eased past West Texas State.

Bears Down Porks, SMU Takes Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That's Southern Methodist with the undisputed Southwest Conference basketball lead and somebody had best get the hang of Coach Bob Prewitt's "three-guard" offense quickly or the Mustangs will be looking up their NCAA playoff opponent.

SMU drilled the Rice Owls 74-65 Tuesday night while Texas obliged with a solid 80-71 thumping of Texas A&M to give the Mustangs the lead with a 6-1 record.

The Aggies are 5-2, followed by Texas Tech, Texas Christian and Texas with 4-3 records.

Defending champion TCU pulled off a surprise by stunning Tech 85-81 in Lubbock while Baylor throttled Arkansas 93-84 in the other SWC action.

Again it was guard Zach Thiel who ignited SMU.

Thiel, a sophomore from Galesburg, Ill., swooped home an eight-foot hook shot to break a 54-all tie and the Mustangs were off and running in the second half.

Junior college transfer Ruben Triplett had 16 points and 15 rebounds before fouling out at 1:08 [illegible]

Leroy Marion was high for the Owls with 16 points.

SMU has now won six consecutive SWC games since Prewitt decided to start guards Thiel, Larry Delzell and Bobby Rollings in the same lineup.

Larry Robinson scored 26 points for Texas but it was the radar-accurate gunning of Larry Wilson in the second half who sank the Aggies at Gregory Gymnasium.

Wilson popped off the bench to hit six of seven field goal attempts, including five in a row. He brought Texas from three points down to 13 ahead.

Texas hit 53.4 per cent from the field and A&M made a poor 33.8 per cent.

"I don't think we're out of it yet," said Longhorns Coach Leon Black. "We'll have to do a good job in every game ... but we're still in there."

TCU outlasted Tech despite Greg Lowery's 34 points for the losers.

Ricky Hall scored 22 points but TCU beat Tech on the boards with a 50-41 rebound edge.

Senior Pat Fees had a career high of 26 points and nine rebounds to lead the Bears. Baylor is now 3-4 in SWC play while Arkansas is 2-5.

Fees hit 11 of 14 shots from the field. Roy Thomas chipped in 20 points and nine rebounds for Baylor while Dean Tolson was high for Arkansas with 25 points.

Dooley Joins Buffalo Bills

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Bills' National Football League club announced Tuesday that Jim Dooley will join the club as linebacker coach.

Dooley, 41, formerly was head coach of the Chicago Bears. His coaching career began with the Bears in 1962 after he played for them for 10 years.

Line City Is Featured

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Line City, whose Oaklawn debut was widely anticipated last year but never took place, heads a field of 12 for today's $8,500 Nashua Purse at Oaklawn Park.

The feature is for 3-year-olds and up 5½ furlongs.

Line City, owned by W. C. Partee of Magnolia and trained by Harold Tinker of Hot Springs, was on the grounds last year, but did not race because of injury.

Weighted at 114 pounds, Line City will be ridden by Don Brumfield.

A likely challenger is Gracious Knight, who won more than $200,000 last year for Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns professional football team.

Gracious Knight is weighted at 114 pounds and is to be ridden by Gary Cooper.

Topweighted at 124 pounds are Red Charmer and Saigon Warrior. Lonnie Ray is scheduled to ride Saigon Warrior and Brumfield also is listed for Red Charmer.

Others in the field: Brute Force, 109 pounds, jockey Eddie Burns; Tudor Falsh, 117, Mike Broomfield; Fast Thaw, 114, no jockey named; Bombgo, 114, Victor Utley; Sot More, 121, Phil Grimm; Mr. Thankful, 114, no jockey named; Four N Ski, 114, no jockey named; and Replete, 119, Ron Houghton.

The race will be run under allowance conditions.

In Tuesday's feature, Blonde Lady, owned by W. A. Lofton, toured 5½ furlongs in 1:05 4-5, the day's best time, for a 4½-length victory in the $8,500 Cicada Purse.

Blonde Lady, the 3-5 favorite, paid $3.00, $2.60 and $2.60. Cornish Sister paid $3.60 and $3.00 in second and the show horse, Idle Lady, paid $4.00.

Spiro Not Around Yet

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Arnie's here. And Jack and Lee and Doug and Billy, too.

But Spiro is still a question mark.

There has been no announcement on whether or not Vice President Spiro Agnew will compete in the $145,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic this weekend.

"We just don't know," said Jack Tuthill, director for the tournament players division of the PGA. "We haven't heard. But we've set up arrangements just in case."

Agnew played in the last two Hope Classics—and his miscues drew national attention. In 1970 he managed to hit pro Doug Sanders, his playing partner, in the back of the head with a wild shot.

Then last year he hit three spectators with his first two shots. His tee shot on the first hole went dead right—off the toe of the club—into the gallery, glancing off a man's arm and hitting a woman. He teed up another one—and did the same thing, this time hitting only one spectator.

"I think he's going to be playing," Sanders said today before teeing off in the first round of the five-day, 90-hole tournament. "But that's not official.

"I was playing a round with him late last year and I said, 'Mr. Vice President, you've only got five more months to get ready for Palm Springs.'

"He got this kind of startled look on his face and said, 'Oh, my goodness. It is that close already?'" Sanders has been his playing partner in each of the last two Hope classics, along with Bob Hope and another celebrity.

Under the unique format for this event, 140 pros play one round each on four desert courses—Bermuda Dunes, El Dorado, Indian Wells and La Quinta. They play with a different three-man team each day. Then, after 72 holes, the amateurs—largely show business celebrities—are through. The field of pros is cut to 70 and the survivors play the final round at Indian Wells.

Duane Thomas Is Indicted

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Professional football running back Duane Thomas of the Dallas Cowboys and his brother were under a grand jury indictment today, charged with possession of marijuana. Thomas and his brother, Bertrand, 21, arrested with him Jan. 30, remained free under $5,000 bond.

Trial date is set for Feb. 21.

Thomas, 24, and his brother were arrested here when officers stopped their car while looking for a stolen vehicle they said was similar to one being driven by Duane Thomas.

During the investigation, officers said they smelled marijuana smoke and a search turned up two bags of it.

Call Him 'Sedate Sam' McDowell

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—Sam McDowell was in his black and blue period. The suit was sedate black. The shoes were gleaming black patents. A blue tie fronted a blue-striped shirt.

"This," said Sam, "is the wildest suit I have. Edwardian. Whoopee!"

He grinned and winked. "I'll be sedate," he said, "whatever the hell that means."

He cut into a sliver of roast beef, well done, bare on a plate.

Sam McDowell

"Very sedate beef," he winked again. "Just like me."

This was Sudden Sam McDowell, the egregious lefthander who has been pitching in the major leagues for eight years, with yo-yo results, and now has changed uniforms for the first time, from the Cleveland Indians to the San Francisco Giants.

Sam was absolutely radiating equanimity.

"I'm not really a pitcher with an overabundance of self-confidence," he said. He winked. "Pitching with Cleveland you can't be."

The Indians, who finished last, lost 102 games. In fact, of the eight seasons Sam toiled in Cleveland, six were on the losing side. And yet he shows a career total of 122 victories, including a 20-game campaign in 1970 which made him the American League Pitcher of the Year.

It's hard to believe Sam's only 29 years old, he has been around so long as the perennial wunderkind and/or enfant terrible. Sam, a precocious prodigy from Pittsburgh, was doing his own thing long before Haight-Ashbury.

"I wore long sideburns," he said, "before anybody else." A sense of passed time creased his brows. He sighed, "I no longer have a flair. No more go, go, go all the time. Maybe the times have caught up with me."

True, if you ignore the fact he is 6-6 (his figure—the record book says 6-5) and has trimmed down to a svelte 220 and has the unmistakable swagger of a professional athlete, Sam could pass for a young stockbroker.

But across the room, Charlie Fox, who'll be his manager this year, was saying, "Irishmen are bad enough when they're bull-throwers, but when they're lefthanders, too, oh, boy."

Charlie is a fine Irish tenor, too, who originally scouted Sam as a high school kid at Central Catholic until Cleveland caressed the McDowell family with a $75,000 bonus. Charlie's glad to have him finally despite the fact he had to give up Gaylord Perry.

"You'd like to get him for a bag of coal," shrugged Charlie. "And if I have any problems with him, I'll call his old man. 'Tom, I'm having trouble with Sam.' "

Tom McDowell was an old Pitt quarterback who didn't letter in the Jock Sutherland glory days and became a steelworker. He's bigger than Sam.

"I'm more sedate," said Sam, savoring his new word. "I don't lose my temper any more."

McDowell has tantalized those who've visualized him as the great pitcher of his era, the logical successor to Sandy Koufax, but one whose results have never matched the promise. Maybe it's his approach.

"You know he's going to challenge you," said Reggie Jackson, the Oakland slugger, a year ago. "His strength against yours. He makes it like it used to be when we were kids. You see, baseball's still a game to Sudden."

He makes a living at it (a reported holdover contract of $72,000) because he has a wife and two children. He also owns a pool parlor in Pittsburgh and his finances are controlled by agent Mark McCormick, who made Arnold Palmer a millionaire. But there is more to life than throwing a baseball at great velocity.

Sam builds and collects guns, makes model boats inside bottles, trains German shepherds, shoots billiards and paints still lifes. These are all introverted activities.

Once a year he does revert. It comes on March 17, St. Patrick's Day. Definitely not a black and blue phase.

Sam's eyes twinkled in anticipation when the subject came up. "I'll wear my green shoes," he said, "green suit, green socks, green shirt and green tie. You betcha."

Singles Play in Tennis Meet

(LOS ANGELES (AP) — The $40,000 May Co. International Tennis Tournament moved into second round singles play today minus its top seed—Stan Smith, the victim of an upset.

His game slightly rough from a lack of tournament play during a month and a half layoff, Smith, from Sea Pines, NC., was knocked off 6-3, 6-3 Tuesday night by unheralded Vladimir Zednik of Czechoslovakia.

Smith's loss boosted second-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania into the spot of tournament favorite as he advanced with a convincing 6-3, 6-3 win over Barry MacKay.

In Baseball's Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — "They were two of the greatest players I have ever played with," Roy Campanella said of catcher Josh Gibson and first baseman Walter "Buck" Leonard, the two lastest inductees into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

"I'm very proud," said Campy, the former Brooklyn Dodger catcher and himself a Hall of Famer, "mainly because they never anticipated getting into the Hall of Fame. These two fellows rightly deserve the honor."

Gibson, who died at the age of 35 in 1947, was a unanimous selection Tuesday of a nine-man committee which screened stars of the Negro Leagues who were banned from playing in the majors during the height of their career. Leonard received seven votes—the minimum required for election.

Two other players drew a vote apiece—John Henry "Pop" Floyd, a shortstop-first baseman and Willie Foster, a left-handed pitcher.

In the initial election by the special committee last year, the immortal Satchel Paige was enshrined.

Gibson and Leonard will be formally inducted Aug. 7 into the Hall at Cooperstown, N.Y., along with Sandy Koufax, Yogi Berra, Early Wynn, Lefty Gomez, Ross Youngs and Will Harridge, elected earlier this year.

Gibson and Leonard, in their heyday in the 1930s and 40s were the heart of the batting order of the Homestead Grays and were then known as the Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Negro Leagues.

"They were both tremendous players," said Campanella, confined to a wheelchair for the past 14 years since an auto accident. "Gibson was a great catcher and tremendous hitter. And, he never struck out. He was extraordinary. I can't think of anyone in the majors to compare with him. He was better than any of them."

And the unofficial statistics back up Campy's claim—statistics of the Negro Leagues are rather flimsy—Gibson is credited with 623 homers in his career with as many as 84 in one season.

Leonard, although less publicized than Gibson and Paige, was only a whisp behind in ability.

"He was a left-handed hitter, like Josh," Campanella explained. "A tremendous first baseman, just like Gil Hodges. A tremendous home run hitter and tremendous hitter. He did everything you could ask of a ball player."

Leonard, now 65, and out of active playing since 1955 is the vice president of the Rocky Mount, N.C., club in the Class A Carolina League.

Long-Lasting

Three of the original American Football League head coaches are still active, all of them in the American Conference of the NFL. Kansas City coach Hank Stram, San Diego's Sid Gillman and Denver's Lou Saban all were around when the old AFL opened shop in 1960. Stram and Gillman are with their original teams, while Saban started out with Boston. (Stram was head coach of the Dallas Texans in 1960 but the Texans were the team that moved to Kansas City and became the Chiefs.)

U.S., Russian Trade Potential Significant

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. trade with the Soviet Union, while developing gradually, could reach significant amounts within five years, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans says.

"The potential exists for billions of dollars of trade between the two countries," Stans told reporters Tuesday. He recently traveled to Russia to talk trade with Premier Alexei Kosygin.

He said the trade talks have opened the door to start almost as much trade as the United States wants.

"The Soviets are ready," he said.

Stans, who will leave his job next week to head President Nixon's campaign fund-raising efforts, said he does not foresee all the political roadblocks to massive trade between the two countries disappearing in the next year.

"I see them moved away gradually," he said, with the possibility of normal trade within five years.

"The possibility of trade with the Soviet Union is immensely greater than with China," he said, adding that while the United States is just beginning to speak to mainland China, it has been speaking and trading with the Soviets for years.

But he said the Soviet Union wants a number of things, including "most-favored-nation" status, a legal designation that means getting the same break on American tariffs as do the nation's major trading partners, Stans said. Approving this status is a prerogative of Congress.

Stans said the Soviets also want to be able to buy on credit, and especially receive credit from the Export-Import Bank, as well as obtain a liberalized list of goods that American businesses can sell to Russia.

The secretary said he told Kosygin that "if you want credit, wipe the slate clean and deal with the land-lease debt" hanging over from World war II. Too, Stans said, increase trade must be accompanied by improving political relationships.

"That has begun," Stans said, noting that the Berlin agreement and "evident progress" of strategic-arm-limitation talks.

He quoted Kosygin as saying "there will be more improvements by the time President Nixon comes to Moscow in May."

Relations With Cuba and Chile Are Grim

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon gave a generally grim assessment today of U.S. relations with the left-wing governments of Cuba and Chile.

In his annual report on U.S. foreign policy, Nixon described Cuba as "an obvious and direct threat" to the hemispheric community as a result of what he said were Cuba's growing military ties with the Soviet Union.

"Rregrettably, Cuba has not abandoned its promotion of subversion and violence," Nixon said.

"There has been some moderation of its rhetoric and more selectivity in its approach to exporting revolution, but these seem to be only a shift in tactics prompted by the consistent failures of its domestic policy and revolutionary adventures."

He said Cuba continues to furnish money, weapons, training and ideological leadership to revolutionary and terrorist groups.

The Cuban-American estrangement will continue, Nixon said, unless the evidence demonstrates a change in Cuba's policies.

Nixon said Chile's suspension of payments for expropriated U.S.-owned copper firms is not encouraging.

He noted Chile has ruled that the copper firms have accumulated excess profits which exceed the value of their properties.

"The application ex post facto of unprecedented legal rules ... is inconsistent with international law," Nixon said.

"We and other public and private sources will take into account whether or not the Chilean governments meets its international obligations."

He said the principles of the regime of President Salvador allende are, to some extent, "frankly in conflict with ours."

However, he said that bilateral relations will hinge not on Chile's ideology but on its conduct toward the outside world.

Girls Not Welcome to Academy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says two girls appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis will not be welcome there next fall.

Secretary of the Navy John H. Chaffee said Tuesday, that "we won't be having women at the Naval Academy this fall" but the Navy will open its Reserve Officer Training Corps to women.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Rep. Jack H. McDonald, RpMich., who have nominated girls to the school, expressed disappointment at Chaffee's decision. Both said they would introduce legislation to get their female nominees in.

Chaffee said federal law bars women from combat sea duty and, he said, the Navy needs its Annapolis graduates for the fleet.

The secretary said the campus ROTC program will be opened to women first at Jacksonville University in Florida.

"That is just the pilot program, and we are going forward sith similar programs at other schools," Chaffee said.

The Air Force was the first military service to open its ROTC program to women, commissioning its first female lieutenant through the program last year.

Javits' candidate is Barbara Jo Brimmer, 17, of Staatsburg, N.Y., who wants to become a Navy doctor.

McDonald's nominee is 18-year-old Valeria Shoen, who attends the University of Michigan and would like to follow a Navy career as a Soviet affairs specialist.

Consideration of AM&N Merger Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The special session call does not permit consideration of the Arkansas AM&N College-University of Arkansas merger, House Speaker Ray S. Smith Jr. ruled Tuesday.

The ruling blocked House consideration of a bill Rep. George Davis of Horatio attempted to introduce to repeal the merger, which is set by law for July 1.

Smith said the bill was not in the purview of the call issued by Gov. Dale Bumpers for the special legislative session that began Monday.

If a measure is not in the call's purview, it may not be considered in a special session unless the legislature first deals with all of the items listed in the call, then decides to extend the session to consider further business.

Davis, an announced candidate for Democratic gubernatorial nomination, introduced a resolution to extend the session. Approval by two-thirds of the members of each legislative chamber is needed for adoption.

Blacks have protested the merger, arguing that it is a white takeover of the predominantly black Pine Bluff college.

Bumpers said in a speech to the legislature Monday night that the "historic mission" of AM&N should remain "inviolate."

The merger issue was developing in the Senate, too. Sen. Joe Lee Anderson of Helena drafted a proposal that would delay the merger for one year.

The proposal, in the form of an amendment to a bill Bumpers wants to make a supplemental appropriation for AM&N, calls for a study by the state Board of Higher Education on whether Arkansas should move toward the university system.

Anderson, whose district is predominantly black after the 1971 legislative redistricting, said he was not sure the university system would be best for Arkansas.

He noted that Little Rock University and Arkansas A&M College at Monticello had already been merged into the U of Arkansas.

Smith said he was not prepared to say how he would rule on an amendment relating to the merger. "That's a different question," he said.

Rep. Boyce Alford of Pine Bluff said, meanwhile, that the delegation from the AM&N area has no plan to do anything about the merger.

Asked how they would vote on merger actions initiated by others, Alford said, "We'll have to cross that bridge when we come to it."

Light Rain Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light rain is expected in Arkansas tonight, possibly mixed with snow in the extreme north portion of the state.

A new surge of cold air will increase the chance of precipitation. A slow moving cold front drifted southward during the night and stretched this morning from near Jonesboro to Fort Smith.

The cold front is expected to continue moving southward today and clouds are expected to develop over the north half of the state. The front is not expected to have much effect on temperatures in the state.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 42 at Jonesboro to 54 at Little Rock, Texarkana, Fort Smith, El Dorado and Harrison. Highs today should be near 40 in the north to near 60 in the south. Highs Thursday should be mostly in the 40s.

Lows tonight should be in the mid 20s north to near 40.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 23, Harrison 27, Jonesboro 28, Pine Bluff 29, Texarkana 32, El Dorado 24, Memphis 25, Little Rock 26 and Fort Smith 24.

No precipitation was reported in the state during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m.

Longshoremen Get Terms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiators worked today to perfect details of a tentative agreement to settle the West Coast's dock strike as it entered its 124th day.

A settlement awaits implementation of complicated ratification machinery. The drive to complete it is in a race with Congress, where the Senate passed and sent to the House Tuesday a bill to put the 13,000 longshoremen back to work immediately and settle the dispute in 40 days of compulsory arbitration.

Arbitration could be lifted if the secretary of labor certified that the two sides had reached agreement.

Mediator Sam Kagel, who joined the negotiations between the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the employers Pacific Maritime Association last Wednesday, announced the tentative settlement Tuesday.

Agreement has been reached on all economic issues, he said, adding that he would mediate or, if necessary, arbitrate the unsettled noneconomic questions.

By agreement with both sides, no details were disclosed pending submission of the settlement to the membership of both parties.

At Kagel's right, ILWU President Harry Bridges, looking glum, denied the settlement had come as result of White House and congressional pressure but said his negotiating committee would recommend its ratification.

At Kagel's left, PMA President Sdmund G. Flynn, looking cheerful, said, "We are satisfied with the terms, or we wouldn't have agreed."

Prior to the session Tuesday, the major economic issue unsettled was retroactivity for pay increases. These increases included a 72-cent pay boost, raising the present base wage of $4.28 per hour to $5 for the first year, with an additional 40 cents after July 1, 1972.

Apportionment Is Challenged

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony is scheduled to begin Monday in a U. S. District Court lawsuit challenging the legislative redistricting plan adopted last year by the state Board of Apportionment.

A three-judge federal panel has been appointed to hear the case, but only one judge will be present Monday when testimony begins.

Judge J. Smith Henley of Little Rock will conduct the hearing and send transcripts of the testimony to Judges Oren Harris of El Dorado and Roy L. Stephenson of Des Moines, Iowa, the others on the panel. The three were assigned to the case by Judge M. C. Mathes of St. Louis, chief judge of the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The full panel will convene at Little Rock March 3 to hear oral arguments and to deliberate the case.

Henley said the panel wanted to decide the issue before the filing period for legislative seats. A 1971 law set the period from April 4 through April 18, but those dates are likely to be changed by the special legislative session that began Monday.

The suit challenging the apportionment plan, filed by William T. Kelly, chairman of the Pulaski County Republican Committee, contends that multi-member districts are not allowed by the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" principle.

Henley said he hoped testimony in the suit could be completed in two days.

Refinery Fire at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — An explosion at the American Oil Co. refinery here late Tuesday night touched off a raging fire that engulfed two large gasoline storage tanks.

Firemen said early Wednesday the blaze was still out of control but they believed the fire could be contained to the two tanks, which were only partially filled. No one was injured.

Joe Finney, a spokesman for American Oil, said the cause of the explosion was not known.

Finney said the refinery was to have been closed down in about two weeks and refining operations of the facility had virtually halted.

El Dorado firemen and the refinery's fire-fighting crew had contained the fire to a point where there was no danger of additional explosions, Finney said.

"We'll probably just have to let the fire burn itself out," Finney said, "The firemen have been pouring water on nearby tanks to cool them down and we don't think there is any danger of another explosion."

Urges Passage of Drug Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton urged Tuesday the passage of Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposed revision of the 1971 drug-control law. Revision of the law is included in the governor's legislative package before the special session.

Thornton, speaking to the Little Rock Optimist Club, said because of "several major flaws" the 1971 laws conceivable could be unenforceable.

"It would be almost incredulous," Thornton said, "but defense lawyers could contend that there could be no enforcement against acts of drug abuse which the legislature clearly intended to penalize or make criminal."

The Opinion of Others Is What Really Counts

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A man's only as good as his status.

What a man thinks of himself may count in the long run, but in the short run it's the opinion that others have about you that counts. Therefore, that opinion is important to you and should be checked regularly.

For example, you can treat yourself to a congratulatory pat on the back if—

Science discovers a new comet and names it in your honor.

The knocker on your front door weighs five pounds and is made of solid brass.

If you go to the supermarket, the manager himself pushes your shopping cart around—and tosses a free can of dog ration into it.

On the golf links you are now trying to make your fifth hole in one.

Traffic cops clear the way for you if you decide to jog around the block before breakfast.

You no longer buy tickets to New York State's million-dollar lottery. For one thing, what would you do with the money?

Yep, there's no immediate need for you to push the panic button about your status. But what about the guy who's situation isn't so rosy?

Well, he'd better take some emergency steps to better his image if—

His own mother has turned his picture to the wall.

He only gets unsigned post cards from Howard Hughes.

The boss where he works has put a sign on the office bulletin board publicly notifying him that he no longer has access to the ready cash box.

His home has two dog-houses—the big one for the dog, the small one for him.

Even his worst relative won't come to visit him.

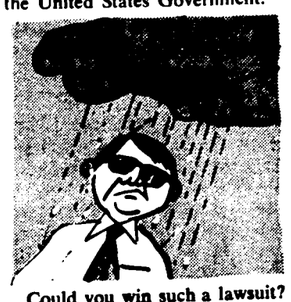

When he goes to a P-T-A meeting, the other parents make him sit by himself in a corner at the back of the room.

About the only way this guy can regain his prestige is—to inherit money. That gives anybody status.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Sue The Weatherman

"Fair and warmer," says the weather man's morning forecast, and you dress accordingly. But during the day a cloudburst hits town, drenching—and ruining—your clothes. You might feel a distinct urge to sue the weatherman for damages. Or, to be more technical, to sue his employer, the United States Government.

Could you win such a lawsuit? A quick answer would be no, because a weather forecast is only an educated guess, not a guarantee. But what if the weatherman was not only wrong but also guilty of negligence in making his prediction?

That complicates matters. Consider this case:

A hurricane was bearing down on a coastal city, and the weather bureau issued a series of warnings. But the winds and flood waters arrived several hours ahead of the predicted time. A woman, caught on low land, was drowned.

Later, her husband demanded damages from the government.

"I realize," he told the court "that weather predicting is not an exact science. But this was worse than just a mistake. It was outright negligence. They had discovered that the storm was coming in ahead of schedule, but they failed to pass the word along to the public."

Nevertheless, the court turned down his claim. The judge said the government cannot be held liable for broad, generalized activities like forecasting the weather because this would place too heavy a burden upon basic governmental functions.

But that may not apply to weather forecasting in a limited, specific situation. Thus:

The weather bureau at an airport, although aware of air turbulence near the ground, failed to warn the pilot of a private plane that was just taking off. The plane crashed, the pilot was killed, and the government was sued for damages.

This time, the government was indeed held liable. The court decided that in a particular, localized situation like this, the government ought to pay the penalty for its negligence—just like any other wrongdoer.

Pakistan Is Losing More Land

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

PESHAWAR, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan is showing signs of losing still more territory, this time the border provinces of the Northwest Frontier and Baluchistan.

The threat arises from the conflict between President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto and his Pakistan People's party and the largest party in the two provinces on West Pakistan's western border, the National Awami party of the Pathan politician, Khan Abdul Wali Khan.

The challenge from the fiercely individualistic Pathans is similar to resentful talk heard for two years among Bengalis before the fall of East Pakistan and the creation of Bangladesh.

Wali Khan is demanding that Bhutto lift martial law, from which he derives his authority as civilian president. Wali Khan wants the immediate formation of provincial governments so Pathans and Baluchis can run their own affairs in the smaller two of Pakistan's four provinces.

Although Bhutto claims his is the majority party of all West Pakistan, he has virtually no representation in Baluchistan and little in the Northwest Frontier.

The struggle has forced Bhutto-appointed governors in the Northwest Frontier and Baluchistan to back down on plans to form interim cabinets because the Awami party refuses to cooperate. It also is threatening a boycott of Bhutto's plans to hold local elections March 15 throughout Pakistan.

The party argues that Bhutto will use his martial-law powers to rig the elections and create a base for power in the Northwest Frontier and Baluchistan and drive deeper the wedge between the border and the provinces in which Bhutto has majorities of national and provincial assemblymen, Punjab and Sind.

"We will not let him hold elections in the Frontier," Wali says.

Events have taken an ominous turn. Wali has become supreme commander of Pakhtoon Zalmai or Pathan Youth, an organization of red-capped volunteers. It came into being shortly after the People's party put its People's Guard volunteers into police-like uniforms. Their supreme commander, retired Maj. Gen. Akbar Khan, Bhutto's adviser on national security, hinted they would be armed.

"If they want civil war," said Wali, "the Pathans will be ready."

TIMELY QUOTES

Petroleum production in this country is at about the same stage as a woman who has just reached her 40th birthday. She may have seen better days, but there's a lot of life in the old girl yet.

—Wayne E. Glenn, divisional president of Continental Oil Company, noting there are still about 346 billion barrels of recoverable oil in the United States, compared with less than 100 billion barrels produced since 1859.

The wisdom of any expropriation is questionable, even when adequate compensation is paid. Countries that expropriate often postpone the attainment of their own development goals.

—President Nixon.

Holy Land Discussed

Brother Gerald Trussell spoke to the Hope Lions Monday during the luncheon hour at the Town and Country on his recent visit to the Holy Land.

Last week Mrs. Paul Rawson spoke to the group on modern Israel and Monday Brother Trussell presented slides and spoke on the old and religious aspects of places he visited in the birthplace of Christianity.

Brother Trussell left Shreveport in late December with a group of about one hundred and fifty people. They then picked up another ninety-nine enroute to their first fueling stop in Bangor, Maine and the complete party of two hundred fortynine flew across the Atlantic to their first stop in Madrid, Spain.

From Madrid, the group flew to the Isle of Cypress where they boarded a Greek passenger ship which was their floating headquarters. They visited points of interest during the day and cruised on to other places during the night while the group slept.

In this manner they were able to visit places in Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Israel. Being a minister, Brother Trussell said it gave him a particular thrill to visit and see the places he had studied and preached about.

The program was closed with a fitting and beautiful rendition of the song "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" by Mrs. Jim Hart, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. H. Peterson, Jr.

Calvin Smith arranged the program.

Guests were Mrs. Hubert Thrash, Mrs. Bobby Joe Lee, and Mrs Arthur Wimmell, wives of member Lions.

A brief board meeting was held following the program in which plans for observance of the local club's Silver Anniversary were discussed.

Dollar vs. Thaler

Dollar is a modified form of the German word thaler, which is a short form of "Joachim's thaler" that identified a silver coin bearing an effigy of St. Joachim, first struck in 1519, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica

Irving and Wife Refuse to Testify

NEW YORK (AP) — Clifford Irving and his wife, Edith, reportedly have refused to testify during appearances before a federal grand jury investigating possible fraud in the author's Howard Hughes "autobiography."

But both presumably complied Tuesday with a federal judge's order to give the panel handwriting samples, since there was no evidence of contempt proceedings being prepared against them after their appearances.

The New York Times today quoted sources as saying that Irving invoked the Fifth Amendment guarantee against self-incrimination and his wife used either the same guarantee or the privilege of a wife not to testify against her husband in refusing to answer questions.

It was the first jury appearance for Mrs. Irving, the acknowledged "Helga R. Hughes" who deposited in a Swiss bank three checks totaling $650,000 intended for Hughes, then later withdrew the money.

A third key witness, Irving's literary researcher, Richard Suskind, also appeared briefly before the grand jury and won a delay until Thursday to allow his lawyer a chance to familiarize himself with the complex case.

Suskind, who arrived in New York Monday from his home on Majorca, has sworn in a court affidavit that he witnessed a meeting between Irving and a man he believed to be Hughes.

Irving claims he met the billionaire recluse for a series of secret interviews that provided the material for the book which McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. had intended to print.

In another development, Swiss authorities sent their embassy in Washington information needed to get Mrs. Irving arrested and, ultimately, extradited from the United States, a spokesman in Bern said.

The spokesman said the information was the second step before a formal demand can be made under the 72-year-old Swiss-American extradition treaty. The first step was issuance of an international warrant last Friday.

Irish Disruption Day Brings No Violence

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST (AP) — D-for-Disruption Day, a 24-hour campaign by civil rights leaders to bring civic chaos to Northern Ireland, brought no extraordinary violence today.

The British army was alerted for attacks by the Irish Republican Army and police leaves were canceled.

At Newry, scene of the massive march in silence Sunday, the main Belfast-Dublin road was blocked by barricades. Automobiles were set afire in Coalis and in County Tyrone.

Catholic leaders of the Civil Rights Association said their supporters would occupy public buildings, march in defiance of a government ban, close schools, shut down factories, jam telephone lines and block country roads by felling trees across them.

But the D-Day organizers said they would take precautions to avoid conflict with the British army. They said the protest against the internment of suspected gunmen without trial would be carried out "in the peaceful spirit of Newry," the border town where 20,000 Catholic marchers and 3,000 British troops stayed away from each other last Sunday and avoided bloodshed.

The provincial government put the internment policy into effect six months ago today.

There was shooting and bombing during the night, but no more than usual.

Gunmen in a speeding car killed a 49-year-old Catholic in Belfast's Ardoyne district, and a police spokesman said, "It looks as though it was some sort of execution by the IRA." It was the 240th known death since the summer of 1969 in the province's political-religious war and the 30th this year.

Also in the Ardoyne district, a bomb was thrown at an army patrol, injuring two soldiers.

Six Catholic members of the provincial parliament marked D-Day with a hunger vigil in Londonderry.

Telephone operators stood by for a deluge of calls. The D-Day organizers told their thousands of supporters to keep dialing London, Birmingham, Manchester and other major English cities, then hang up when they heard the ringing tone. The aim was to swamp the lines between Northern Ireland and England, causing a symbolic break in the link across the Irish Sea.

Northern Ireland's Protestants, who have been quiet while the British army battled the Catholic IRA, also were stirring.

A new organization called Ulster Vanguard scheduled a series of weekend rallies opposing any deal that might eventually reunite Northern Ireland and the Catholic Irish republic to the south.

An attempt by the republic to involve the United Nations in the troubles in the North came to nothing. The British government thanked U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for offering his good offices but said the situation does not lend itself to intervention.

SMILE when you say that, tourist! Actually, this is the response a keeper at Rome's zoo got from a resident seal with only two little words—"fish, fish."

Hughes Deal Bit Like the James Bond Fantasy World

By NINA VAN PALLANDT
Written for the London Sunday Mirror

LONDON (AP) — It's all getting a little bit like James Bond. The events of the past four days have been in a world of sheer fantasy.

All I keep hearing are two names. One is Howard Hughes, the eccentric millionaire I've never met in my life.

The other is Clifford Irving, the name of a man I have loved and an author I still believe has pulled off the literary coup of the century.

If this affair had not got into the world headlines, I know my affair with Clifford, however indiscreet it was, would still be a secret today.

There is nothing I can do. What damage has been done, has been done, but I fervently hope it will not break his marriage to his wife Edith because I know they are very happy together.

It was 7½ years ago in Ibiza when we found ourselves in a small beach party together.

Clifford—I'd read several of his books and knew him by reputation—was in the party and we discovered we both lived on the island.

I was then living with my husband Frederik and our children.

Ibiza is a small island and it has lots of social life and it wasn't long before I was bumping into Clifford at cocktail parties and other functions. He became a family friend.

It wasn't until last year that our friendship developed into any kind of relationship. Clifford was then married to Edith, his fourth wife, and my own marriage to Frederik had broken up.

One night at my Chelsea home I got a call from Clifford saying he was coming to London and I invited him in to have dinner that same night with other friends.

During his stay, Clifford asked me if I would like to go on holiday with him to Nassau.

We took the plane to New York the next morning—it was Feb. 12 as far as I recall. When we got there, Clifford announced a sudden change of plans. "Would you mind," he said, "if we went to Mexico instead?"

Clifford then told me he had to go to Mexico to meet Howard Hughes, whose autobiography he was writing.

I had to return to London (from Mexico after 3½ days) and on the previous day Clifford went out to arrange my air ticket back.

He was gone between one and a half to two hours. That is the only time when he went out alone for any such period.

I have heard that in an affidavit Clifford has sworn that I was with him when he met Howard Hughes. I cannot believe Clifford would say such a thing because I certainly didn't meet Hughes at any time during our stay there.

But if Clifford saw Hughes in Mexico it could only have been during that two-hour period when he got my air ticket.

Last November, Clifford and I met again in Los Angeles. I picked him up at the airport and he was all aglow over his manuscript on Howard Hughes.

He had been to New York to see the publishers, McGraw-Hill, and he told me that the serialization rights had been bought by Life magazine.

Clifford had sworn me to secrecy about the whole thing.

At the house we borrowed from a friend I cooked some steaks for Clifford and my manager, John Marshall, and over dinner Clifford told us of the strange meetings he had with Howard Hughes.

Clifford told us of one secret meeting with Hughes in a parking lot and how cartridge tapes had been exchanged in some toilet somewhere.

It all seemed so fantastic, and the author showed us the original letter he had received from Hughes granting him the rights to his biography.

It looked perfectly genuine. Apparently he had known Clifford over a number of years and trusted and respected him.

Clifford is the kind of man that a woman finds great warmth in and someone with whom there is tremendous communication.

I still feel very close to him. But when an American postal department investigator came to question me last week when I was holidaying in the Bahamas ... I was literally shaken.

Suddenly the whole thing exploded around me I had to return to England to regain my senses.

Yes, I'm going to New York with John and we will both testify before the grand jury investigating the whole affair and of our relationship with Clifford Irving.

I will tell the truth and all I hope is that what I say will not harm or injure Clifford in any way. Because knowing this man as I do I cannot believe the book is false.

Wins School Rehearing

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has agreed to hear an appeal of an order directing Richmond to merge its largely black schools with predominantly white schools in two suburban counties.

In actions Tuesday, the appellate court set an accelerated hearing date, April 10, and ordered a stay in the implementation of the consolidation, which was to become effective Sept. 1. The early hearing date means the court may make a decision in June.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. ordered the merger in a decision Jan. 10 and later rejected a request for a delay.

The vote to allow the stay sought by the state Board of Education and Henrico and Chesterfield counties was 4 to 1 with Judge Harrison L. Winter of Baltimore dissenting.

Winter said the majority gave no reason for its action and heard no oral arguments on the petition. The jurist did vote for the acclerated hearing date.

Although the September deadline was dissolved by the stay, the appellate court told the state Board of Education to direct and coordinate planning in the meantime in case Merhige's decision is upheld.

Recommends Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission recommended Tuesday that Mountain Home Telephone Co. be allowed to increase its rates to produce additional gross revenue of $222,680 per year.

Mutt Gets Aid for Tudor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ever-resourceful Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway got some help Tuesday in his campaign for renomination of Keith Tudor of Arkadelphia to the state Board for Mental Retardation.

With Jones prompting the effort, he and three other senators sponsored a resolution praising Tudor's work on the board and asking Gov. Dale Bumpers to name Tudor to another term.

The Senate approved the resolution without dissent.

Tudor has served on the board 14 years. His latest term expired last month and Bumpers has taken no action to reappoint him or to name anyone else to the job.

The Goettings — They Got Mad

By TOM TIEDE

UPPER SADDLE RIVER, N. J. — (NEA) — It began more than a year ago. A husband and wife living near the Saddle River here noticed large trucks dumping rubbish at the stream. Things like pieces of macadam. Great mounds of sterile dirt. Chunks of ugly concrete. "What's happening?" the couple wondered. "It's O.K.," the town mayor told them, "I authorized the dumping myself."

Like hell it's O.K.

And Jerry and Reitta Goetting got mad.

The Goettings, one of a thousand families in this community, live in a neighborhood that is flanked by the town's only undeveloped area. It's not a park, but it's like a park. It's a few dozen acres of woods and water set aside as a preserve of natural beauty. It's a wonder for kids. Real fish in the stream and that kind of thing.

To be sure, say the Goettings, it's not the kind of place where dump trucks are welcome. So they complained to town officials and were told that a road was being planned across the area and the dumping was perfectly legal.

The couple didn't agree. They inspected the dump sight and found the debris was drying up a natural pond, and cutting off one of the river's tributaries.

Says Mrs. Goetting: "One day we went down to the dumping grounds and we saw this old turtle crawling around. He was all full of this gook and junk and he was looking for the water that was no longer there. He crawled away. To die I suppose. And, I don't know, we just knew we couldn't let this go on."

So, late last year, the couple decided to act. They learned the town was breaking up a road somewhere and was going to dump the refuse in the stream. When his wife phoned the news to his office, Goetting told her to stop the trucks any way she could. She did. She and five other housewives, arms folded, faces grim, lined up across the road in a human chain.

Not surprisingly, the Goettings and the environment lost that first round. The wife was arrested. Some city officials passed the word that the couple was nuts. And the neighbors who were previously anxious to help fight the war now retreated: "Oh, well, Jerry, we'd like to go to the council meeting with you but we've got things to do, and, um, we can't get a baby sitter anyway."

Thus the couple went on more or less alone. To the town council first. Where they advised officials the community was in violation of New Jersey law 58:1-26; which forbids the unauthorized encroachment of any stream. They advised also that the area's pond had been completely obliterated, and back water from the the dammed-up stream was creating swamplands and health hazards for blocks.

The council paid little attention. The mayor told them to: "Sit down and be quiet, we've heard enough from you." When the Goettings persisted, tempers really flared, and the town engineer ended the whole public debacle by shouting: "O.K., we cut off the stream, what are you gonna do about it?"

As it turned out, the Goettings did plenty. They purchased all of the maps of the river they could find. They studied town records on the area back to 1935. They learned about flood plains and drainage and, to be sure, small town petty-politics. They argued with the mayor ("I never talked to him by phone because he has an unlisted number"). They argued with the engineer ("I'm afraid he's beyond any hope"). They spoke to civic organizations. And finally, they requested help and official determinations from the state agency for environmental protection.

Eventually, the Goettings won. Sort of, anyway. State inspectors advised the town it was in violation of the law and ordered officials to clear out the dumpings, open up the stream tributary, and restore the pond to its original conditions.

But. No cheers. The war isn't over. Town officials still refuse to admit error. The wild area pond is still covered with a mountain of trash. The stream remains cut and dormant. And the mayor is trying to circumvent the matter by filing for a state permit which would legalize even further rape of the river in question.

And so Reitta and Jerry Goetting maintain their guard. One eye on the river, the other on city hall. "We're tired," they say, "but, dammit, we're right."

POST TO DE PRIEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — James De Priest, 35, nephew of contralto Marian Anderson, has been appointed associate conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, whose home is Kennedy Center.

De Priest will conduct three weeks of concerts next season and be principal assistant to music director Antal Dorati for musical policy and personnel.

De Priest won first prize in the 1964 Dimitri Mitropoulos International Conductors Competition and was assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic the next season.

In 1962 he had been sent by the State Department to tour the Near and Far East as an American specialist in music. He conducted and lectured in Thailand, Taiwan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Egypt and Lebanon. He was stricken with polio in Thailand and when he entered the Mitropoulos Competition, at the suggestion of Leonard Bernstein, he was still using braces and crutches.

Brandt Opens Treaty Debates

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt goes before the West German parliament today for the opening of debate on his treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland.

The treaties, which recognize German territorial losses in World War II, form the cornerstone of Brandt's policy of reconciliation with Eastern Europe.

Brandt signed the treaties in 1970 and, barring some unforeseen developments, he is expected to have enough votes in parliament to secure ratification in May.

The immediate effect of the ratification will be the signing of the Big Four agreement on Berlin, which will simplify travel to and from the divided city and thus bring Germans the first practical result of the Eastern policy.

The signing of the Berlin agreement also will open the way for preparations for the Communist-proposed European security conference which is expected to bring a further easing of tensions in Europe.

The United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union signed the first part of the Berlin agreement Sept. 3. East and West Germany later worked out the details but the Soviet Union made ratification of its treaty with Bonn a condition to signing the final document putting the accord into effect.

Brandt's parliamentary opposition, the Christian Democrats, are opposed to the treaties and have declared they will vote against them.

But Brandt's coalition of Social Democrats and Free Democrats has a six-vote majority in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament where ratification rests.

Hialeah race track in Florida will be closed on Friday, April 28 so that the meeting will end the following day, a Saturday.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Tips to Combat Stomach Acidity

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—For several years now, I have suffered from great stomach acidity. Everything I eat hurts me and gives me severe indigestion. I tried acidity pills and stomach coaters and consulted doctors. I have even had an X ray of my stomach and gallbladder. They found nothing and the tests proved nothing. Can you help me, Dr. Lamb? I have just about given up hope of being able to eat like other people. Very depressed.

Dear Reader—I can suggest a few things that may help:

1. Stop drinking coffee, tea, colas or anything else containing caffeine.

2. If you are smoking, stop.

3. Avoid acid foods, such as fruits and fruit juices. If you do this for long you will need to take vitamin C tablets to be sure you don't get a vitamin deficiency.

4. Avoid all spicy foods.

5. No alcoholic beverages.

6. Do eat good cereals like homecooked oatmeal, well-cooked vegetables of all varieties, which includes green beans, corn and most people can tolerate fried tomatoes. Do not season your vegetables with strong spices, however. Also include in your diet lean meat, fish and chicken.

7. Stop using all milk products. Many people have an intolerance for milk products. The way to find out is to stop it and if your symptoms disappear you have your own answer. If it is not a factor, use fortified skim milk, uncreamed cottage cheese and other healthy dairy products.

For antiacids, go to the drugstore and get yourself some Gelusil or Malox, either one of these can be obtained in liquid or tablet form without a prescription. I suggest using a few more tablets than the label recommends at two- or three-hour intervals and at bedtime take an extra dose.

If you will stick to this regime for a number of weeks, you can pretty well tell whether it is going to relieve your problem or not. If it doesn't, go back to your doctor and ask him to measure your stomach acidity and give you a prescription for medicine that blocks the action of the nerve which stimulates the stomach to produce acid pepsin juice. These are atropinelike drugs and they tend to make your mouth dry.

The above treatment program has nothing in it that can harm you, and it could very well solve most of your problems.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

During the frequent armistices in the Trojan war the Greeks and Trojans played bridge against one another. Today's hand shows Prince Hector, the greatest Trojan hero and bridge expert, playing with his father King Priam against the wily Ulysses and the dashing Achilles.

We can't really approve of Hector's three heart bid but he was playing with his father and most young players tend to think that the older generation underbids. As you can see, Priam put his son right in game although he really had nothing above the minimum for his first raise.

Ulysses opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the queen of spades after Achilles played the deuce.

Hector took the trick with his king and played three rounds of trumps. Then he led his last diamond.

Ulysses went up with the ace and promptly led back the nine.

Hector looked at Ulysses and remarked, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts." Then he went up with dummy's queen of diamonds. Achilles' jack fell and Hector was able to discard both his losing clubs on the queen and 10 of diamonds.

The gift offered by Ulysses was a free finesse and Hector was wise to spurn the offer.

Of course, Ulysses could have defeated the unsound contract if he shifted to a club at trick two or if he had simply ducked the second diamond and let Hector get away with the loss of just one diamond trick but even Ulysses could not defend perfectly.

LEGAL NOTICE

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS Hope School District No. 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas, proposes to issue $400,000 in school bonds for the purpose of constructing and equipping new school buildings and making additions and improvements to existing school buildings, and desires to submit to the electors of the District at the annual school election to be held on March 14, 1972, the question of issuing the bonds and voting a continuing building fund tax for their payment;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of said District:

1. The Board adopts as the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1973 that budget attached hereto and made a part hereof, proposing that the electors vote a total school tax of 48 mills, of which 3-½ mills shall be a continuing building fund tax for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of the proposed bond issue of $400,000 which it is estimated will run for approximately 21 years; and that the President and Secretary publish said budget one time, not later than January 13, 1972, in Hope Star, a newspaper published in Hempstead County, Arkansas.

2. The President and Secretary of the Board of Directors are hereby authorized and directed to request the County Board of Election Commissioners to prepare the ballot and submit the question of a total school tax of 48 mills, including the building fund tax above described; to provide for the election of the following:

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
1 member for a term of 3 years
1 member for a term of 3 years

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION:
1 member for a term of 5 years

and to conduct and hold the annual election as required by Act 403 of the year 1951.

3. The President and Secretary are hereby authorized and directed to publish notice of the election, setting out the polling places, the officers to be elected, and the proposed school tax, including the continuing building fund tax, with the provision that the surplus revenue from the building fund millage may be used for other school purposes.

4. The President and Secretary are hereby authorized to publish a legal notice of the sale of the proposed bond issue, in such form as will comply with the law and they deem advisable.

The polls will open at 8:00 o'clock a.m. and close at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at the following polling places:
